PRINCE GEORGE IS MOTOR VICTIM

Eldest Son of Duke of Cumberland Is Instantly Killed When Machine Overturns in Ditch

WAS GOING TO ATTEND DEAD KING'S FUNERAL

Chamberlain von Greves Also Meets Death When Car Travels at Full Speed to Disaster

FRIESACK, Prussia, May 20.—Prince George William, the eldest son of the Duke of Cumberland, and his chamberlain, von Greves were instantly killed in a motor car accident on the highway near here this evening. They left Berlin early in the afternoon intending to proceed to Copenhagen to attend the funeral of the Prince's uncle, the late King Frederick VIII.

The Prince, who was at the steering wheel, probably failed to observe the signs of warning that the highway was being repaired, and drove the machine at full speed into a part of the roadway which was being macadamized. He lost control, the machine was ditched and turned on its end.

The Prince's head was crushed. Chamberlain von Greves' neck was broken. The chauffeur, who was inside the motor car, suffered a broken arm.

Prince George William was born in 1880. His father, Duke Ernest August, Duke of Cumberland and Duke of Brunswick, is head of the house of Guelph.

HEROISM ON TITANIC

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Reply To Mr. G. B. Shaw's Criticism

LONDON, May 20.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in the Daily News this morning administers a stinging rebuke to George Bernard Shaw for writing with "looseness and levity" about the loss of the Titanic. Sir Arthur says that in order to support his perverse theory that there was no heroism shown and that women were not allowed the first chance to escape, Mr. Shaw picks out a single boat, the smallest of all, and because there were ten men and two women in the boat denies there was any chivalry although in the very next boat sixty-five out of seventy were women. The novelist then lashes the playwright for his reflection on the behavior of the captain, who, he says, "though he may have made a terrible mistake, deliberately gave his life in reparation."

He also resents the attempt of Mr. Shaw to defile the beautiful incident of the band playing "Nearer My God to Thee," on the ground that it was the result of orders to avert a panic, holding that if that is a fact, it does not detract from the band's wonderful bravery in going to death while inspiring others with courage to meet their fate.

Sir Arthur concludes his article with a tribute to the heroism of the male American passengers, particularly the much abused men of wealth, as a splendid feature of the tragic episode of the sea, and adds: "Surely it is a pitiful sight to see a man of undoubted genius decrying his own people, regardless of the fact that his words must add to the grief of those who already have more than enough to bear."

Lady Mountain Climber

CORDOVA, Alaska, May 18.—No word has been received for several days from Miss Dora Keen, the Philadelphia woman who is leading an expedition up Mount Blackburn, one of Alaska's unscaled peaks, but it is believed the party is making the final dash for the summit. Until two days ago a 14-day storm raged over the coast and the interior, but the last two days have been ideal for mountain climbing. When the storm broke, Miss Keen's party was camping at the timber line and was ready to resume the climb as soon as the weather cleared. The expedition is expected to return to Kennecock, the nearest railroad station to the mountain, within a few days.

TAFT TERMED INCOMPETENT

Mr. Gifford Pinchot, Here on Forestry Business, Expresses Himself Freely on Republican Fight

Mr. Gifford Pinchot, officially the president of the National Conservation association of the United States, and on the side one of the leading politicians across the line, reached the city of Victoria yesterday in fulfilment of his engagement with the provincial government to come here and give the benefit of his expert advice in the carrying out of a forestry and general conservation policy for the province. His stay on this occasion will be short, as he leaves again this evening, having introduced himself to the government authorities, with whom he will work, but he will return again shortly.

Mr. Pinchot is most widely known in this country on account of his political experiences and affiliations, but on the other side of the line he has earned a name for himself in the sphere of forestry which, nowadays, at any rate, vies with the reputation he has had thrust upon him in connection with his political activity. No man is better qualified to speak of the inside workings of American national politics than Mr. Pinchot, and consequently his expressions on that elusive, but none the less interesting topic have a flavor of interest for Canadians who are watching the struggle at present proceeding in connection with the forthcoming contest for the presidency. Mr. Pinchot is a Republican, but he is not a Republican of Mr. Taft's color, which means that if the wishes of Mr. Pinchot are fulfilled the present incumbent of the presidency of the United States will be sadly eclipsed on the day of the Republican nomination.

Having been through the fires of political warfare and having been numbered among the casualties for a spell, Mr. Pinchot has learned his lesson, but while he does not open up in a broadside upon the many things that offend his soul in the administrative departments of the United States government, he is free to confess that if President Taft is returned again he will be a disappointed man. In order to render that possibility as remote as possible, he has associated his forces with Mr. Theodore Roosevelt and is fighting the campaign battles of that aspirant for another term with all his power.

As a matter of fact it is pretty well within the mark to say that if President Taft is beaten out of the republican ticket the achievement will be in no small part due to the efforts of Mr. Pinchot, for he was among the first occupying a prominent position to come out and openly confute the policy of Mr. Taft in regard to the forestry conservation, which subject, by the way, occupies a much more important position in the eyes of the public in the United States than it has yet attained to in Canada. Under the direction of the British Columbia government, however, this matter is being rapidly remedied, so far as this province is concerned, and the presence of Mr. Pinchot in the city on forestry business is the best proof possible of the government's intention in this regard.

"What about Mr. Taft?" echoed Mr. Pinchot, when the query was put to him. "Why, what about him?" but it was apparent that the question brought him back from the sober thoughts of devising a scheme for preserving the forests of B. C. to that which was nearer his heart, the struggle for the republican nomination. After a little more idle fencing, Mr. Pinchot fired this shot: "Mr. Taft is incompetent to

TRAINING IN THE ART OF WAR

Duke of Connaught Emphasizes the Necessity of Those Who Would Command Studying Science of Fighting

HUMAN SACRIFICE IS PENALTY OF FAILURE

His Royal Highness Officiates at Laying Corner Stone of Extension to Canadian Military Institute

TORONTO, May 20.—The necessity of long and careful training for those who are to take command of troops in the field was emphasized by H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the extension of the Canadian military institute on Saturday.

"Institutions for the promotion of the study of military science are most necessary and deserving of every encouragement," said the duke. "There are in the world a great number of very ignorant people, who seem to imagine that the art of war is one which comes naturally to a person, and that the heaven-born soldier can come straight from the plough or the office and take command of troops in the field. It is true that there have been cases of men with exceptional aptitude for soldiering who have risen to prominence without much training. There have also been a few artists and musicians similarly placed; but, on the other hand, the vast majority have to learn by diligent study or in the bitter school of experience. In other arts there is no great penalty for failure. In the art of war, however, failure means the sacrifice of men's lives. He who would aspire to the command of men, therefore, owes it to them to know his business."

REFUSES CIVIC GRANT

Home for the Friendless Wants Nothing More from Winnipeg's Board of Control

WINNIPEG, May 20.—The board of control sustained something in the nature of a shock today when it received a letter from a charitable institution in Winnipeg intimating that further grants from the civic purse were not sought and could not be accepted. The letter was from Mrs. Laura Crouch, superintendent of the Home for the Friendless, on Furby street. The controllers were so overcome that they quite refused to discuss the matter, but handed it over to the newspapermen present that it might be published. The annual grant to this charity is $500.

HOW MUTINY WAS AVERTED

Threatened Outbreak in Russia's Baltic Squadron Is Frustrated by the Arrest of Forty Sailors

INFORMER SUICIDES, FEARING VENGEANCE

BERLIN, May 20.—A special despatch from Helsingfors, capital of Finland, says a prospective mutiny in the ranks of the Russian squadron lying there was frustrated by the arrest of forty sailors. The arrests followed the discovery of a revolutionary plot to murder the officers of the fleet and seize some the ships, a plot similar to the Black Sea mutiny. The man who betrayed to the police the plans of the revolutionists killed himself, fearing their revenge.

FIVE MOTOR VICTIMS

Machine Plunges Into River Carrying Occupants to Death

CHICAGO, May 20.—Bodies of two of the five persons who were drowned today when an automobile plunged into an open draw at ninety-second street and the Calumet river, were recovered today and tonight. One body is that of Anna Mahoney and the other is thought from letters to be that of John Boyd.

The other victims are Florence Mahoney, a sister of Anna, and J. W. Buchanan, chauffeur of the car. The car belonged to Mrs. C. F. Spaulding, Buchanan's employer, and had been "borrowed" by him without her permission to take his friends riding.

BRITAIN FACES ANOTHER STRIKE

Railway Car Wedding

MEDFORD, Ore., May 20.—While northbound, Southern Pacific train No. 14 was speeding between Medford and Goldray yesterday, Mrs. Helena Mary Fife and William E. Keller of San Francisco, were married. F. Shields of this city. The license and marriage certificate were secured by telegraph, and save for the unusual circumstance of the "car wedding," the event was as well appointed as if performed in a church.

NELSON'S DOUBLE MURDER CASE

Evidence Said to Have Been Obtained From England to Show That Balsom, the Accused, Is Insane

NELSON, B. C., May 20.—Justice Murphy today postponed the trial of Albert P. Balsom, charged with the double murder at the Manhattan saloon, on the application of Mr. F. C. Moffat, who presented affidavits to show that the defence could secure material evidence in England if a postponement were granted. That the defence would be insanity was indicated by the doctor's certificate sent from England, which stated that in view of illness which Balsom had suffered and the family history there was no doubt that he was liable to mental aberration. Letters from Canon Flint and others in England were read and it was believed, said Mr. Moffat other important documents from England had been lost in the wreck of the Titanic.

Sayo Beshir was fined a hundred dollars or thirty days for taking part in an affray at Trail and Malcolm Maclean was found guilty by the jury of stealing clothes while escaping from the Nelson jail and was sentenced to one year, to run concurrently with the two years' sentence for jail breaking recently inflicted by Magistrate Irvine. These sentences were given at the conclusion of the criminal assizes today by Mr. Justice Murphy, who will tomorrow speak at the Canadian club on the law and administration of justice in Canada.

Brown and Baily vs. the Mother Lode Mining company, an action for damages to timber, is now before the court.

POLITICS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Mr. Lloyd George's Ascendency Said to Be on the Wane —Mr. Churchill Is Popular Minister of Moment

CONFIDENCE IN NAVAL POLICY RESTORED

By-Election in South Hackney Expected to Show Growing Lack of Faith in Present Government

LONDON, May 20.—David Lloyd George is no longer regarded by any section of the coalition as prospective leader of the Liberal party. He enjoyed immense popularity with his followers when he was assailing the Dukes for attacking his famous budget in 1909, but he has received few congratulations for his virulent denunciation of the Duke of Devonshire, a scion of the House of Cecil, in the Commons on Thursday.

He has been eclipsed by Sir Edward Grey and by Winston Spencer Churchill in turn, and the First Lord of the Admiralty is undoubtedly the man of the moment. Mr. Churchill's plain intimation to Germany that Great Britain cannot afford to lag behind in the race for naval supremacy is endorsed by everybody in the country, irrespective of political basis. Since Winston Churchill replaced Reginald McKenna at the Admiralty House, confidence in the British navy has been completely restored and the little navy party is dwindling into insignificance.

Mr. Churchill has given officials in the London offices of the Dominion something to talk about by the announcement that he was looking to the self-governing colonies to provide for their own naval defences so that the British fleet might be free to patrol the home waters continually. It is not anticipated, however, that a combined Dominion navy, owned and controlled in time of peace by the governments of the four Dominions, will prove a feasible proposition. Australia is already provided with a fleet unit, and probably before long New Zealand will join the Commonwealth in the maintenance of an Australian fleet, but Canada is still considering what she ought to do and South Africa is not yet financially strong enough to undertake the construction and upkeep of a fleet unit of her own. The idea of providing a subordinate navy which might protect Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, is in short, regarded as impracticable.

South Hackney, a large constituency in the northeast of London, has always proved so erratic in its political course

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Returns From a Tour of Exploration in Most Optimistic Mood

FERTILE VALLEYS FOR FRUIT AND FARMING

Mr. W. E. Scoot, deputy minister of agriculture, returned on Sunday from Prince Rupert after a tour extending over several weeks in Porcher and Queen Charlotte islands and the districts of the Naas valley, Cranberry valley and Skeena river valley. From the observations he was able to make he is thoroughly satisfied that a great future is in store for the country lying between the Naas and the Skeena rivers, containing hundreds of thousands of acres.

Mr. Scott was accompanied on his tour by Mr. R. O. Jennings, road inspector and Mr. Carpenter, of the agricultural department. They first visited Porcher Island then went on to Queen Charlotte Island where they tramped for days round the western coast line and in to Masset Sound, which they afterwards explored thoroughly in a launch.

Crossing to the mainland, their route lay up the Naas river to the Indian settlement of Fishery Bay, and thence the party was poled up the river in canoes to Ayansh where the Cranberry valley leads across towards Hazelton. From there they dropped down the Skeena to Kitmakool valley and Kitmangah and explored the country round Lakelse, returning thence to Prince Rupert by rail.

Mr. Scott considers that the country traversed contains one of the largest

NEGRO CONSPIRACY

Rebellion Said to Have Been Planned in Cuba Arouses Government to Action

HAVANA, May 20.—There is no room for doubt tonight of there having been a negro conspiracy extending to all the provinces of the island with the apparent intention of taking up arms today against the government. Today was the eleventh anniversary of Cuban independence. The negroes appear to have been aroused to rebellion by the denial of what seems to them to be their just political treatment for services rendered in the war of independence in which they constituted a great majority of the Cuban forces.

The situation is considered sufficiently grave for the government to dispatch a column of twelve hundred men from Cape Columbia, composed of cavalry and infantry with field and machine guns, bound for Santa Clara and Oriente provinces. Near Sadua la Grande, a squad of rurales had an engagement with an armed band of negroes. One of the guards was killed and the negroes escaped. From Cruces comes the report that residents of the surrounding country are fleeing to the city for shelter.

LAWSUIT OVER COMMISSION

Decision Reserved in Action Brought by Mr. Merritt Against Shareholders in Canadian Pacific Lumber Co.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 20.—Mr. Justice Gregory today concluded the hearing and reserved decision on the action brought by Mr. Cecil M. Merritt against Messrs. G. E. Corbould, C. G. Major and other shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Lumber company, which has its mills at Port Moody. Mr. Merritt claims $25,000 commission for his services in negotiating a sale of the 169,552 shares of of the company's stock on the London market. He stated that he was engaged by the defendant company to negotiate the sale and arranged for a purchase of the shares for $240,000 to English buyers, but during his absence the defendant sold out their interests to Messrs. Irwin and Meridith.

Among the shareholders in the company were Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Mr. Merritt's father-in-law, Stewart Tupper and W. J. Tupper, but it does not appear that they had a majority interest. The case was first heard in Victoria though only concluded here today.

Messrs. W. B. A. Ritchie, K. C., and Mr. A. H. Macneill, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Douglas Armour for the defendants.

U. S. S. ARMERIA IS TOTAL WRECK

Lighthouse Tender, Ashore on Alaska Coast, Is Pounding to Pieces—Those Aboard Saved by Wireless

HAD SOLVED FATE OF BARGE HAYDN BROWN

Sole Survivor of Eight Men Cut Adrift From Tug Pioneer Was Saved by Ill-Fated Vessel

CORDOVA, Alaska, May 20.—The U. S. lighthouse tender Armeria is ashore near Cape Hinchinbrook and is being pounded to pieces by the waves. The 32 persons aboard the Armeria, including 7 officers, 24 men and one survivor of the crew of the lost barge Hayden Brown, were taken off by the steamship Admiral Sampson which picked up the wireless despatch of the government vessel.

The Admiral Sampson, which is bringing the men to Cordova, reported the loss of the Armeria by wireless and gave the additional information that the Armeria had solved the fate of the Hayden Brown, which broke from the tug Pioneer in a gale in Prince William sound on May 10. The Hayden Brown, which was supposed to have foundered, at once drifted ashore on Montague island, in the entrance to the sound, May 12. Only two of the eight men aboard the barge reached shore and one died of exposure the next day. August Palmer, the one survivor lived on canned beef until picked up by the Armeria.

Was On Important Mission

SEATTLE, May 20.—The lighthouse tender Armeria left Juneau on May 10 on a cruise along the southern Alaska coast to establish new aids to navigation. Inspector Ray L. Hankinson was aboard to direct the work, which was considered the most important that has been undertaken in Alaska in several years.

The Armeria was a vessel of 1052 tons gross register and was built at Camden, N. J., in 1899.

The barge Hayden Brown, formerly the wellknown bark of that name, whose survivor August Palmer was picked up by the Armeria before she was driven on the Hinchinbrook rock, was cut adrift from the tug Pioneer to keep both vessels from being lost. The Hayden Brown was being towed light to Seattle from the whaling station at Akutan harbor and presented a large surface to the storm.

When the Pioneer reported that the Hayden Brown had been set adrift it was feared that nothing further would ever be heard of the barge as the tug captain said she had foundered soon after the tow line was cut. A faint hope remained, however, that the Hayden Brown might have drifted ashore and all government boats in southwestern Alaska waters had orders to search for her. Of the seven men on the barge known to have been lost two were taken aboard at the whaling station and their names are not known here. The others were: L. D. Peterson, master; Karl Westerlund, donkeyman; Chris Bansen and J. Martin, sailors and K. Kawahara, cook.

PAYS EXTREME PENALTY

Richeson Is Electrocuted For the Murder of Miss Avis Linton

BOSTON, May 21.—Clarence V. T. Richeson was electrocuted at 12.17 o'clock this morning. The current was turned on at 12.10.02, and the prisoner was declared dead at 12.17. The former Baptist clergyman, confessed poisoner of Avis Lintot of Hyannis, his one-time sweetheart, was outwardly calm when he entered the death chamber and he retained his composure while the straps and electrodes were being adjusted as he sat in the electric chair.

Fifty Years Ago Today

(From the Colonist of May 21, 1862.)

The brig Speedy sailed yesterday morning for Barclay Sound.

The Caledonia—With 20 passengers and a small quantity of freight, this steamer left for New Westminster yesterday morning.

Races—The advertisement of the Queen's Birthday races for the 24th will be found in our columns this morning. The programme is an excellent one. The getters-up are a number of patriotic tradesmen, with Thos. Harris, Esq., at their head, and we are assured that no exertion will be spared to make the races second to none ever held here. The Jockey Club, being a defunct institution, has nothing to do with the races of this year.

For China—The steamer Labouchere will be sent to San Francisco, where she will be offered for sale to go to China. Such is the demand for steamers on the Yangtse river that it is believed no difficulty will be experienced in realising a handsome sum by her sale. She will leave for San Francisco direct on Saturday next, and will carry a mail and express.

More Copper—Messrs. Collins and Husten have brought to town some beautiful specimens of copper ore, obtained on an island 23 miles south of Fort Rupert, and one mile east of Vancouver. The vein is two feet wide, and was traced on the surface for a distance of 30 feet.

Arrival From Astoria—The schooner William L. Richardson, Capt. Collins, came in yesterday morning in nine days from Astoria, with a cargo of Oregon produce, among which were about 200 barrels of flour. The vessel is consigned to Southgate & Co., and for a return cargo will probably take Nanaimo coal for the Portland gas works.

ARE CONFIDENT OF GETTING OUTLAWS

Attorney-General Expects to Hear End of the Indian Murderers — Predicts Rapid Judgment for Them

"I do not think there is a possible chance for the outlaw Indians, Paul and Spitium, who are wanted for the murder of Constable Kindness at Clinton. It is true that they have a tremendous stretch of country to hide in, and very rough country at that, but I shall be surprised if within the next few days I do not receive word of their capture—or their death. I have had no news for several days as to how the chase is progressing, and in this as is other matters no news is good news." So says Attorney-General Bowser on the subject that is at present agitating the interior of the province between Clinton and the boundary.

In reply to the query as to whether he had any hope that the Indians would be brought in alive, Mr. Bowser said that hope was not exactly the appropriate word for the occasion. "They are desperate men," he said, and unless they cave in at the last and lay down their arms I think there is very little chance of the law being called upon to formally dispose of them. They have already proved their treacherous natures, and as the men who are after them are very closely affected by that treachery in that it was one of their dearest comrades that suffered from it, I cannot pretend to think that they will give the Indians any chance of repeating their tactics. If the Indians shoot at all, and all our experience of them teaches us to suppose that they will, then the police will shoot also. As a matter of fact we cannot afford to lose any more lives at the hands of the outlaws; and the men figuring in the chase are imbued with a sense of their loss and that will undoubtedly lessen the chances of the outlaws ever being brought to trial.

"I have figured it out that when at last the posse closes in on them the Indians will take to cover and make a desperate last stand, but I don't think, with the lesson which they now have written on their hearts, that the hunters will take any chances. They are all trained men, some of them have seen service in South Africa and elsewhere, and I am confident that the end of the Indians can be accomplished without further loss. It will be a great fight, however, but that it will end to the satisfaction of everybody I have not the least doubt. Every outlet is already guarded and while the country is wide and free, I am assured that the finish is close at hand. The outlaws have already abandoned their horses. That is very significant. It can only mean that the man-hunters are close on their heels. When they finally close in there will be a rapid exchange of shots, that is if the Indians have any ammunition left, and then a procession back to headquarters."

look after the natural resources of the country. If not, he is unwilling. He can have it either way, but not both. His inability to grasp the importance of the subject, or his desire to gratify the wishes of a certain section of his supporters, allowed him to adopt a policy the inevitable conclusion of which was to let the public domain fall into private hands.

"Now I am a Republican, but I could not stand for that, so I protested, with the result that I and a number of others of a similar mind were deposed from our positions with startling suddenness. That action of course had the effect of confirming us in our course. We had opposed the policy of the president and been punished for it, but as we still believed that we were right there was nothing for it but to carry our flag to the people. This we have done, and I think with complete success; for I shall be extremely surprised if the nomination does not reveal the fact that the public thinks with us and not with the president. Of course, our opposition is deeper rooted than that. It goes back quite some way, and while it may not be altogether wrapped up in the question of forestry conservation, although I think it is, that has been the main issue with me."

In talking of his mission in British Columbia, Mr. Pinchot said: "I am here to assist Mr. Overton Price in preparing for the minister of lands a plan for the organization of the forest branch. Mr. Price has been here for the past few days. I merely happened to be on the coast, and as I promised the minister to come here I thought I had better take a run over when the chance offered. As to the organization of the forest conservation department, I suppose it will be done just as you would organize any other business. After ascertaining what duties are to be discharged and how the responsibility should be distributed the next thing to do is to begin building up your personnel. And this latter is perhaps the most important part of all. The service in the United States, which began with eleven persons, has now over thirty-five hundred and it spends over five million dollars a year. That means an expenditure of two cents per acre per annum, which I understand is the same rate as has been provided for by the legislature in this province.

"We have managed to keep the United States forest service singularly free from politics," pursued Mr. Pinchot. "So far as I know, while Mr. Price or myself were connected with it there was never an appointment or a dismissal, a promotion or a demotion on account of politics. When we began our work in the United States we did not have anything like the advantage you have here in the public recognition of the value of the forest and the importance of preserving it. In this country, I understand, this is a very popular part of the government's work. When we began, the general impression in the United States was that a forest fire was an act of God and that it was not altogether a pious or right thing to try and stop it."

The work that is to be done in British Columbia by Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Overton Price will not go into any great detail, but will be more confined to the drawing up of a plan of organization suitable to the needs of the province, leaving the details to be worked out from time to time by those having charge under the minister of lands.

that the government is by no means pleased at the forced resignation of Horatio Bottomley. Unionism triumphed there in 1895 and 1900, and as Mr. Bottomley was an Independent Liberal and received a number of Conservative votes at the last election, it would not cause much surprise if the Unionists won the seat at the coming bye-elections. The voters are mainly of the small tradesman class, clerks and skilled artisan classes, and for this reason the actual working of the shops act and the prospective operation of the national insurance act will have far more influence in the result than either home rule or Welsh disestablishment. Northwest Norfolk is a Liberal stronghold. Unionists have won it only once since its creation in 1885. They, however, place great reliance on the strength of the flowing tide, and confidently predict that the ministerial majority will be largely diminished.

Killing of Mutineer

FORT YELLOWSTONE, Wyoming, May 20.—It became known today that the court-martial which closed here on Saturday after the hearing of arguments in the case of Sergeant Clarence Brittain, charged with killing Private Frank Cunningham, in Yellowstone park, last March, found that the defendant was not guilty of murder, and exonerated him. The findings of the court-martial were sent to San Francisco for confirmation. Brittain is still under partial confinement here and will not be freed until the action of the authorities in San Francisco is known. The defence showed that Cunningham had mutinied and refused to obey the orders of the sergeant, who was forced to shoot, according to his own testimony, in order to save his own life.

Despondency the Cause

CHICAGO, May 20.—A coroner's jury returned today a verdict of suicide while despondent, in the case of Henry Spruck von Armenthal, a brother of a German baron who was found shot to death in a hotel yesterday. The principal witness at the inquest was Mrs. Frances Rosenblatt, to whom Armenthal referred in a letter he left, as "the finest woman in the world." Friends said the couple's engagement recently was broken because of Armenthal's inability to quit drinking. Mrs. Rosenblatt, in her testimony, made no reference to the reported engagement.

Naval Ships in Collision

VALLEJO, Cal., May 20.—The torpedo-boat Davis collided with the gunboat Annapolis here late today, tearing away part of the gunboat's guards and rigging and springing her own masts. The damage was not serious to either vessel, and the Davis proceeded on her way with the torpedo boat Fox for Puget Sound. It was just after the Davis left the Mare Island navy yard, that she was caught in a strong current and swung against the Annapolis, which was moored in midstream. The little boats are being convoyed north by the collier Nero.

Cable of Condolence

WINNIPEG, May 20.—At a meeting held last Friday by the Canadian-Scandinavian Society, it was decided to send the following cable to His Majesty King Christian of Denmark: "The Canadian-Scandinavian Society desire to convey its wishes for a long and prosperous reign, and the sincerest sympathy in your great bereavement." In answer to the same today the following cable arrived from the King: "Heartiest thanks."

A GOODLY LAND IN THE NORTH

areas of fine agricultural land in the whole province. The general quality of the soil is excellent; it is studded with poplars, which are always signs of fertile soil, and for the most part it is lightly timbered and could be cleared at from $10 to $100 per acre. Of course there are certain portions heavily timbered, but these are the exception. It is ideal land for the growing of small fruits and mixed farming, as it was when the party was there, a veritable garden. The winter climate is not extreme, the thermometer seldom falling below 10 degrees below zero. About three feet of snow falls between November and March and there is a sufficient rainfall for all crops without resorting to irrigation methods.

Between Kitmagan and Hazelton the huge railway bridge over the Skeena was passed, with its two massive concrete caissons and a total length of 1500 feet, its height being 150 feet. This is expected to be finished in July, and then communication will be established by rail between Prince Rupert and Hazelton. A meeting was held at Terrace, a thriving little town on the Grand Trunk, and many settlers were interviewed.

Around Lakelse the country is becoming rapidly developed, and Mr. Scott's impressions are of a goodly land with beautiful scenery and climate and every favorable condition for the growing crops. At present tree fruit is on its trial there, and many trees, apple, etc., have been distributed among trustworthy men for experimental purposes, but of the success of small fruits, vegetables and dairying, there is no doubt whatever, and the quality is magnificent.

Settlers are advised to come in by the trail and not attempt to pole up the Naas river, as this can only be done where the help of the Indians can be depended on.

A very striking feature of the Lakelse country is the acre of hot lithia springs which come bubbling up boiling hot, though close alongside is a glacier-fed torrent. A long flume leads this hot water down to where a hotel is being erected, and the medicinal properties should attract many visitors.

A visit was also paid to the Dominion fish hatchery, as well as to Trout river, where some splendid sport was had among the Dolly Varden and cutthroat trout, and from there Prince Rupert was reached by train.

Altogether, Mr. Scott's impressions of the country are such as to encourage to the utmost any who may be contemplating going in there to settle.

AVIATION IN WAR

British Naval and Military Experts Impressed With Capabilities of Aeroplane

LONDON, May 20.—During the king's visit to Aldershot his interest in the science of aviation as applied to military and defensive purposes, has been displayed as keenly as it was at Weymouth throughout the recent manoeuvres. His Majesty, it is understood, was just as desirous of taking a trip in the air as he had been to see what life was in a submarine beneath the water, and he was only dissuaded from becoming a passenger in an aeroplane by consideration of all that was involved in his safety.

Naval and military experts alike have been impressed by the capabilities of the aeroplane. Its place in future warfare is assured and the question of how to meet and thwart its deadly devices is now closely engaging the attention of both the war office and the admiralty.

It is confidently asserted that very soon aeroplanes will be constructed to alight on or to rise from the deck of battleships without the aid of any platform or other structure calculated to hamper the movements of the crew or interfere with the fighting efficiency of the guns.

PASTOR ON SOCIALISM

Rev. A. E. Smith, Nelson, Addresses a Sunday Evening Gathering on the Subject

Rev. A. E. Smith, of Nelson, who is visiting Victoria in connection with the provincial Methodist conference, gave an interesting lecture on "The Growing Menace of Socialism" on Sunday evening at the Empress theatre under the auspices of the Social Democratic party. There was an attendance of several hundreds.

It was the duty of every citizen to study social questions, said Rev. Mr. Smith. He regarded the discontent of the present day as the most hopeful sign of the times, and referred to the universal character of this discontent. Its cause was the prevalence of ideals, and Socialism was one of the forces serving to create these ideals. He referred to Herbert Spencer's three propositions regarding Socialism—firstly, that, in his opinion, it would inevitably triumph in spite of all opposition; secondly, that this would be the greatest disaster the world had ever known; and, thirdly, that it would end in universal military despotism. Spencer expressed these views to a French scholar who once visited him, and afterwards in a letter to the same gentleman reiterated them, and the latter gave them to the world through the medium of a magazine article.

Socialism continued the speaker, was not generally understood even by its own supporters. It did not mean class war. The anti-socialist preached class divisions and dealt with society from the standpoint of class contest, but Socialism dealt with society from the social standpoint. It was a proposition involving the benefit of all classes The speaker at this juncture deprecated class divisions and class contest generally. Socialism, he said, did not mean equality in the common acceptation of the term. The real proposition of Socialism was that the diversified tastes, powers and capacities of men should find equal opportunity of contributing to the benefit of society in general.

The speaker also stated that Socialism did not mean the confiscation of private property, and said that the development of individual enterprise would be far greater under Socialism than under the present system.

The address lasted about an hour, and was well received, a vote of thanks being afterwards passed to the speaker. A number of questions were afterwards put to him and discussed.

BODY IDENTIFIED

Robbery Believed to Have Been Motive in Los Angeles Murder Mystery

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—The body of the man found in the inner harbor yesterday with his hands tied to a heavy iron bar, was identified today as that of Bernard Rein, a shot metal worker from Detroit. The identification was made this afternoon by Frances Anna Rein, the widow, and by S. J. Evans, an insurance man.

Rein came to [illegible] Angeles from Detroit in February and went down to the harbor on May 1 to take a boat for San Francisco for the purpose of purchasing machinery. When he disappeared he had about $1000 and valuable jewelry on him. It is believed he was killed here and his body thrown into the Bay.

A Baseless Story

TORONTO, Ont., May 20.—The late editions of the Montreal and Toronto evening papers printed a sensational story that Arthur Stringer, the eminent Canadian author was killed by the explosion of an oil stove at his summer home at Niagara Falls, and that his wife and baby were badly injured. Inquiry revealed the story as baseless. Stringer is safe with his wife and baby on his farm near Chatham, Ontario.

Moran Badly Beaten

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 20.—Owen Moran, worsted in six of the rounds, twice floored Charley White, of Chicago, in the ninth round of their fight here tonight. The referee then stopped the fight. The Chicago boy fought one of the gamest battles of his career and in the second round with a terrific hook to the jaw, sent the Englishman to the floor. At the close of the eighth round he had given Moran a bad beating.

HOSPITAL FUND OVER EIGHTY THOUSAND

Public Interest In the Gathering of a Fund for the Erection of New Jubilee Hospital Is Unabated

Sum received to date.....$ 81,509
Sum required.....300,000

Monday, as is well known, is not a good day to approach business men upon any other mission but a business one, the accumulation of work over the week-end leaving little time to listen to calls upon the purse for any object, no matter how good. In spite of this fact the ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary and of the Daughters of City yesterday added a substantial sum to the fund for the new Jubilee Hospital.

The fund now amounts to a total of $81,500, and as yet only a small number of citizens have been approached. The campaign continues with all the energy which animates womankind in a good cause, and a generous response is bespoken for them from all who have not yet contributed.

In addition to those already mentioned as having subscribed on Saturday were Mr. Albert, $100; Mr. J. Savanah, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sinclair, $2.

Hospital Sunday

Preaching at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday evening Ven. Archdeacon Scriven made an earnest appeal on behalf of the campaign to provide Victoria with a new hospital, and combined the appeal with thoughts of ascensiontide. He described the hospital system as one of the legacies that Christ had left to the world. Hospitals were not a product of civilization but of Christianity, for it was Christ Who had left the command to his disciples, "Heal the sick." That power had since died out, but the command had not died with it. Today there was no city in the civilized world that could, for very shame exist without a hospital, although it had taken men long years to rise to a sense of their duty in that respect. Nowadays it was said that a man did not need to be a Christian to be interested in the hospital movement. That was true, but it was equally true that it was the influence of Christianity in the world which had first built the hospitals and the imbibing of Christian principles which he who had lived in a Christian community could not escape, which made him interested in it.

Many of them there that night had much for which to thank the Jubilee Hospital. Humanly speaking it had been the means of saving a life that was near to him, and nothing that he could do could ever wipe out the debt he owed to it. Now was the time for them all to remember what the hospital had done for them by helping on so good a cause. The only question in their minds should be "Can I afford to refuse?"—either in their love for their city, or in helping a work from which they themselves might need help soon.

In all the churches of the city on Sunday equally strong appeals were made for the hospital.

OAK BAY COUNCIL

Woodpeckers Must Not Be Shot—Letter Carrier Delivery Desired—Interesting Legal Point

The Oak Bay council last night decided on the motion of Mr. F. B. Pemberton, to rescind a permit recently granted to a resident to shoot woodpeckers as, though these birds might occasionally bore holes in shingles in their search for wood-lice, yet in a timber country the benefits they confer are so great in keeping down insect pests that it was felt that they should be preserved at all costs.

A petition to the postal authorities signed by many of the residents of Oak Bay was endorsed by the council, to the effect that in view of the increase of population in the municipality and its rapid growth, its residents within three miles of the centre of the city have a claim to a daily house-to-house delivery of letters.

An interesting point came up in connection with the Scott property along the waterfront, the statement being made that as the old Hudson's Bay agreements all read "to the sea," rights could be claimed by the holders of land beyond high-water mark. The matter was referred to the legal advisers of the council.

The council also approved a suggestion from the engineer that no broom should be cut down along the line of proposed sidewalks until the work of construction is actually taken in hand.

The expropriation by-law of rights-of-way for the trunk sewer was reconsidered and finally passed, as was the local improvement by-law No. 40. The council then adjourned and went into committee on the garbage by-law.

A.), now employed at the Dominion immigration department outer wharf, who is conversant with many oriental languages, has been given a commission in the active militia and appointed in command of the corps of guides in M. D. No. 11. He succeeds Major Brittain, of Vancouver. Mr. H. Pefers, lieutenant in the corps of guides and graduate of R. M. C. Kingston, has returned from Prince Rupert, where he has been working for the marine and fisheries department.

Miss Irene Adams, daughter of the Rev. K. B. Adams, formerly stationed in Victoria, and an old high school pupil, has graduated from Wesley College, Manitoba University, and her brother Reginald has passed his first year in arts. Mr. Adams is about to leave Winnipeg for Port Arthur, Ont., and the Methodist Minister's association, in a resolution of regret at his departure, says that: "His pastorate at Young church has been most eventful—a more signal instance of splendid achievement in church expansion and construction rarely falls to the lot of a minister. The evolution of Young church from a relatively minor position to its present commanding eminence is an eloquent testimony to the rare judicial sense splendid executive ability, excellent pulpit ministration, and unusual pastoral fidelity of our brother."

A very enjoyable gathering was held at the residence of Mrs. J. G. Brown on Friday afternoon, when a large number of the ladies of First Presbyterian church assembled to do honor to a young lady of their church, Miss Maud Sexsmith, whose marriage to Mr. H. B. Sargison is to take place today, during the afternoon a suitably-worded address was read by Mrs. Christie, after which Mrs. John Campbell, on behalf of the ladies, presented the bride-elect with a beautiful silver entree dish. Miss Sexsmith feelingly responded, expressing her surprise and pleasure at the kind remembrance. After this, all sat down to a dainty repast, the hostess, Mrs. Brown, being assisted by Mrs. J. B. Martin, Miss Teague and her daughter, Miss Katie Brown. The tables and rooms were charmingly decorated with broom and greenery. At the bride's cover was a lovely bunch of illies of the valley, quaintly arranged and tied with knots of bridal white. After this, Miss Sexsmith's sweet voice, which so often has reached the hearts of the congregation of First church, was heard in two well-rendered vocal selections. The happy gathering dispersed with many good wishes for Miss Sexsmith and Mr. Sargison, who are both very popular in the church and have recently received tokens of esteem from three other societies, which include the younger members of the church.

CADETS' RIFLE SHOOT

This is four points better than the best score of last year's winner (Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto). The second team, of boys under 16, made 541, which is equal to the average score of the team which came second in that series last year (Toronto Public Schools). The scores:—

Inclement Weather Suggestions

With the sudden change to inclement weather we must fall back to Ladies' "Burberrys," Suits and Coats, which will undoubtedly be much in demand today and tomorrow.

For rainy weather, motoring, boating and the chilly evenings, a "Burberry" is the very thing combining as it does COMFORT and PROTECTION.

'NEW CENTURY' WASHER

Let The New Century Do Your Clothes Washing

If your washing could only talk it would call for the weekly cleaning by a NEW CENTURY. It goes right after the dirt and soiled spots and removes every trace quickly without the slightest injury to the most delicate fabric, and "SO EASY."

If you only knew how much lighter wash day work would be and how much time and strength you could save, you would have one quick. Ask any good dealer to demonstrate the NEW CENTURY way of clothes washing. Look at the springs that do half the work and the ball bearings that make it run "SO EASY".

Notice the RUST PROOF shaft through centre that makes the machine rigid and insures long life, also the "Anti Warp" rust proof steel ring sprung into a groove inside the tub. No other machine can have these features. It is original, unequalled, and pays for itself in the clothes it saves. It is harmless to everything except dirt. Ask for "AUNT SALINA'S WASH DAY PHILOSOPHY", an interesting little book that will bring to you many ways of lightening the drudgery of wash day.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

It is generally believed that the primaries, which will be held in the state of Ohio today will determine the action of the Republican convention for the nomination of a presidential candidate, at least as between Messrs. Taft and Roosevelt. Until the Convention has actually met it will be impossible to forecast its action with certainty, for even instructed delegates may not do what is expected of them. We think this is the first time in the history of the United States when there has been such a campaign for nomination as that now drawing to a close; but it will not be the last of the kind, because, if the system of primaries is to come into general use, the fight for nomination may at any time be as fierce, and is very likely to be more bitter, than that for election.

There is no question about the strength of the Roosevelt campaign, which has developed to a degree not anticipated. When he first announced that his "hat was in the ring," there was a marked disposition to look upon his appearance in the political arena as in the nature of an anti-climax. The measure of success that has attended him is due in no small degree to the manner in which Mr. Taft has conducted himself. He has not impressed the public favorably. With every disposition to look upon him with friendly eyes, the majority of disinterested observers have been forced to the conclusion that he has exhibited an entire lack of dignity and a pettiness of calibre not calculated to create public confidence. If he should be nominated, there is very serious doubt if he could be elected.

The outstanding feature of his presidential career may be briefly stated. He took office pledged to tariff revision, and yet he assented to the Payne-Aldrich tariff, which was a distinct disappointment to every one who expected relief from unreasonable burdens. To make matters worse, he went out of his way to defend the new tariff. He might very well have kept silent, being content to justify his course by saying it was not part of the duty of the President to set his own views against those of Congress upon a matter affecting taxation; but he actually campaigned in defence of the new measure, excusing himself for disappointing those to whom he owed his elevation by saying that, while he had pledged himself to tariff revision, he had not promised tariff reduction. Later he was guilty of the egregrious folly of saying that the people are unfit to govern themselves. He permitted himself to become more or less mixed up in scandals arising out of the administration of Alaska, not indeed to the extent of participating even in the most indirect way in them, but by supporting those who were responsible for them. During almost the whole of his presidential term he has been traveling around the country delivering political speeches. He has afforded a remarkable exhibition of partizanship in high office. Personally a very likable man; morally a good man; he has shown weakness in almost every line of his administration. There is no question that, if he is renominated, he will owe his success to a very large degree to the active participation of the office-holding class in efforts on his behalf. In view of these facts, and also because he has undoubtedly alienated the large section of his party, who call themselves Progressivists, we have very great doubt if Mr. Taft can be elected if he is able to secure the nomination.

We think Mr. Roosevelt would prove the much more successful presidential candidate. His agressiveness appeals to the imagination, and a very large element among the electorate believes the time has come for a strong man to take the affairs of the nation in his hands. The third-term bogey does not alarm people as it once did. The people are beginning to ask why they should be prevented by a doubtful tradition from availing themselves of the best man to place at the head of the nation. History is being read more carefully, and the example of Washington, who refused a third term, is being discovered to be quite different from what it has been represented to be. Washington did refuse a third nomination; but if he had had his own way he would have refused a second one. He may have been the Father of his country, but he had a lot of very unruly children, and he found office very irksome. Moreover his health was beginning to fail him towards the close of his second term. Nevertheless he made it understood among his more intimate friends that under certain circumstances, which did not arise, he would have accepted a third nomination. It is also being pointed out that, although the Constitution is silent in regard to successive terms in the presidency, the idea of limiting the number of terms was mooted at the Convention, which passed upon it and was rejected. From this it is argued, and seemingly with a good deal of force, that it was the intention of the framers of the constitution to leave the people free to choose any man for president as often as they might wish. Thousands of people are asking themselves: If Roosevelt is the man we need, why should we not choose him? Can we claim the right of self-government if our choice of a president is limited? Our view of the case, judging from the present outlook is, that if Mr. Roosevelt is nominated he will be elected, for the reason that there is no man in the Democratic party who is an outstanding figure before the public. Mr. Bryan comes the nearest to it, but it is very questionable if he is as strong as he was at either of the former elections at which he was unsuccessful.

THE NEW PRINCESS

The Canadian Pacific roster of Princesses is being so enlarged that the arrival or launching of a new one hardly occasions any comment. Not many people knew that the Princess Sophia was to arrive yesterday afternoon, and if many had known it, very few would have gone down to see her come in. It is said of the Canadian Pacific coast service that there is always a steamer under construction or on the way out. There is nothing more remarkable in the way of development than the record of this splendid service since the day the Princess Victoria came here. Rumor has it that more and bigger Princesses are to come, and we may make up our minds that they will be on hand even before they are actually needed. The Canadian Pacific coast service, under the management of Capt. J. W. Troup, has pursued a policy in the development of coast business that is beyond all praise. It has meant very much for us all. It is the admiration of the travelling public, and to those of us who remember what we had to put up with a decade ago, it is almost beyond belief.

FULL SPEED AHEAD

Canada received 354,237 immigrants in the last fiscal year. Against these newcomers must be set off those Canadians who left the country during the year, the number of whom we do not at present know. Making what we fancy must be a very liberal allowance for those, the Dominion increased in population last year by immigration alone about 300,000; the excess of births over deaths would bring the total increase during the year close up to half a million. Present indications are that this will be exceeded during the current year.

This gain in population gives rise to a number of very serious problems. It necessitates a great expenditure in public works, for these newcomers require the appliances of modern civilization such as railways, roads, bridges, school houses and the like. This necessitates large contributions to the public revenue, and it is a very remarkable thing that, with all this growing outlay, we hear no talk of increased taxation. The carrying out of these public works is something which will call forth great executive ability, and it is evident that the manner in which this duty is discharged by the several governments will have a very profound effect upon the future of the country.

Looking further ahead we should feel disposed to think that the assimilation of these new residents and making good Canadians out of them are matters of the first importance. If ever there can be a time in the history of the Dominion when high standards should be observed in all things relating to the government of the country, that time is now. Our institutions are, in a sense, on trial, and the jury consists of the hundreds of thousands of people from the United States and Continental Europe, who are coming to make their homes with us. Let those institutions be so administered that a favorable verdict will be assured

CO-OPERATION OF FARMERS

The Commission on Conservation is endeavoring to stimulate co-operation among farmers, and it suggests the formation of what are called neighborhood associations for the following purposes as set out in a bulletin lately issued:

Section I.—To co-operate with the committee on lands and the experts of the Commission of Conservation in the investigation of various rural problems; to promote the general advancement of rural industries in the neighborhood; and to encourage the use of such means and methods as will improve the quality and quantity of the products of the farm while maintaining or increasing the fertility of the soil, more particularly through the use of an illustration farm in the neighborhood.

Section II.—To discuss ways and means whereby farming may be made more satisfactory by improving the surroundings and conveniences of the dwellings; by stimulating interest in the performance of farm operations in the most workmanlike and enjoyable way, and by fostering a love for the study of nature.

Section III.—To consider and adopt means for the improvement of the social life of the community by having the people meet frequently to discuss questions that concern the whole community, and by encouraging co-operation and united action in directing and utilizing the local forces and agencies for these purposes.

This is a movement of very great value. In this province the beneficial effects of co-operation have been very great and the policy of the provincial government for years past has been to further it in every feasible way.

VISITING CAPITALISTS

The group of business men from the United Kingdom who will shortly visit Canada, represents a capital of more than $250,000,000. The organizer of the tour says:

"That it is a great idea, I am sure you will admit when I tell you that the project involves some sixty of the leading business men of the mother country leaving their businesses for two months to see for themselves what opportunities Canada offers for the development of British trade and for the investment of British capital. Every one of the visitors will be either chairman or the managing director of half a hundred of the leading industries of Britain, from steel works down to biscuit factories, with every other branch of industry also represented.

"The project represents many months of work and thought, but, thanks to the co-operation of the Dominion government and the railway companies, it is now assured of success. I am glad to be able to tell you that I have the assurance of support and entertainment from every city in Canada and from all your business organizations who have realized at once the very great importance involved in the enterprise. We hope that the results of this trip will be such that it will be but the pioneer of others. As to its financial advantages to Canada and Canadians I have no doubt whatever."

We hope that every effort will be made during the visit of this party to Victoria to see that they are fully informed upon all matters bearing upon the future of the city and Vancouver Island.

The St. John Evening Times speaks of the death of Miss Agnes Deans Cameron as "a loss to Canadian literature." Other Eastern papers speak very highly of the deceased lady.

A report comes from London to the effect that the Jack Tars of the Royal Navy are about to form a trades union. The causes of complaint are the smallness of pay and the unreasonableness of punishment.

The number of applications that have been put in for the Fenian veterans' grant of $100 shows that it was a mistake to provide anything at all for them. The Colonist said this at the time the grant was proposed.

The Kaiser threatens Alsace-Lorraine with a rescinding of its constitution and its conversion into a Prussian province if the political situation there is not quickly changed. The Kaiser is treading on dangerous ground. Alsace-Lorraine has been a storm centre for centuries, and His Imperial Majesty may raise a whirlwind there that will spread ruin in its path.

We have been keeping track of the anti-Roosevelt campaign cartoons, and they recall the story of Le Moniteur's utterances on the return from Elba. The Paris paper announced the landing of Napoleon by saying "The usurper has landed," or words to that effect. As Napoleon advanced, the tone changed from day to day until, on his reaching Paris, it said, "The Emperor has arrived."

Mr. Winston Churchill has announced that, in view of the additional sums to be expended by Germany on her navy this year, he will present supplementary naval estimates. It may be recalled that when the First Lord of the Admiralty brought down the naval budget, he intimated that if Germany increased her expenditures beyond what then appeared to be contemplated he would ask for an additional grant. He has been as good as his word. The question now is: What will Germany do? Britain is not going to allow her supremacy to be questioned. That, at least, is certain.

And now the people of Seattle are seeking to recall their present Mayor. This time the trouble arises over a red flag carried by the Socialists in a parade. The recall is a very risky feature of government. It enables any crank, who is dissatisfied with anything a magistrate may do, to raise an agitation for his removal. If the effect of this would be to secure good government it would be a good thing; but the result will be quite the other way. In the first place it will make public office distasteful to good men; and in the next place it will make an official more anxious to win popularity than to do justice.

A London cable of the 16th inst. says: "Captain Nash, lecturing at the Imperial Institute, denied the practicability of a purely Canadian navy. He deprecated a Canadian money contribution to the Imperial service but looked more hopefully on the formation of a squadron by Canada combined with other dominions. Earl Grey, who presided, approved this scheme." This is a useful contribution to the discussion of a very important question. At first sight there appears to be difficulties in the matter of control of a squadron maintained by several of the Dominions acting in concert. If there are objections to contributing to the British navy on the score that we would have no voice in the expenditure of the money, the several Dominions might take exception to contributing to a common fund over the expenditure of which any one of them would necessarily be in a minority.

A great deal of attention is being paid to what is generally spoken of as ptomaine-poisoning, although the term is not scientifically correct in most cases. It appears that there are three kinds of poisonings from food. One may be developed from food apparently perfectly sound, which has been exposed to flies, or has been handled in an unclean manner, or has been kept on ice made from impure water. A second case is decayed meat, which it is said is not very likely to occur for the odor of the meat serves as a warning. Professor Burger, of Berlin, speaking of this poison, feels called upon to dispel the very common belief that it is killed by cooking. The conclusion seems to be that any meats which smell of decay and especially those that have a greenish or yellowish gray tinge should not be eaten on the supposition that cooking destroys the obnoxious germs. There is a third class of poisons peculiar to smoked and salted ham and fish and canned articles. So serious is this that the utmost care should be taken to avoid food of this class which is at all open to doubt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Y. M. C. A.

Sir—It is comforting to observe that one Victorian has courage enough to "Take the bull by the horns" in regard to the attitude of the Y. M. C. A. and their proposed employment bureau, and I heartily support Mr. Morris' protest. The motives in this case would appear to be mercenary rather than charitable.

The Y. M. C. A. was organized to look after young men's interests (strangers in the city or otherwise), and receives the monetary support of the city merchants therefor, but apparently the time has come when even their advice can no longer be dispensed gratis, and a young man who has the misfortune to seek their aid in order to secure work, must, besides proving himself worthy of their recommendations, produce the "green goods." Is the transposition of the biblical text, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," intentional?

Have the Y. M. C. A. made the "golden calf" their idol also? Let us hope not.

G. D. CHRISTIE.

Flies and Chinamen

Sir.—I am agent for the owner of a piece of land directly south of Parkdale, and on Burnside road and in the Saanich municipality, part of which has been rented to three Chinamen as monthly tenants, on the first of February last I gave these Chinamen notice to give up possession on or before April 1, 1912. Two of them left, one defied us and said he would not leave. I complained to the Saanich municipality that this Chinaman was driving herds of pigs in every week and was killing them each night and that the stench was unbearable and that the blue-bottle flies were there by the millions. This is within 50 feet of a dwelling. After continued complaints the Saanich health officer visited the placed accompanied by two witnesses at 2 o'clock a. m., caught the Chinaman in the act of killing pigs, and a summons was issued and the case came up for hearing on the 13th of this month, and the case was withdrawn on request of the solicitor promising that they should immediately remove and leave the place in a sanitary condition. The next day I visited the place and found a lot of pigs there and four Chinamen, I could not stay but a few minutes to investigate as the stench was more than I could stand, and the swarms of flies. I cannot understand how any human creature can exist in such filth. Now I would like to know why these Chinamen are allowed to defy the law and endanger the health of the community and I think no self-respecting lawyer would defend these men (if you can call them such) if they were conversant with the facts. I think that the Saanich municipality has entirely failed in their duty in allowing this outrageous nuisance to exist so long and I think it is now the duty of the provincial health officer to step in and see that this nuisance is abated in the interest of the health of the community.

THOMAS BARTON.

WHAT THE WORLD'S PRESS IS SAYING

Judge Mabee's Successor

In discussing a successor to Judge Mabee, the country is hoping that the man who may be selected will be one wholly free from corporation influences. Judge Mabee firmly believed in a square deal for the public. When the railroads and the other corporations learned how firm and how just he was they abandoned many attempts to inflict upon the people injustices which might have been perpetrated had the chairman of the railway commission been a weaker man. It will require a man of exceptional character to measure up to the standard set by the late, and widely mourned, chairman.—St. John Telegraph.

A Touching Spectacle

The spectacle of the aged statesman, Sir Charles Tupper, conveying his dead wife across the sea to her last resting place in Nova Scotia is a pathetic one. In 1896, immediately after the general election, Sir Charles resolved to relinquish the leadership of the Conservative party. Before he gave that news to the world he sent a telegram to his wife who was in Winnipeg, saying: "I intend to resign the leadership and devote the rest of my life to you." This message was from a grand old man, whose present bereavement and ocean vigil will excite the sympathy of all his countrymen. — Ottawa Evening Journal.

High Cost of Living

The true remedy for the high cost of living lies in the restoration of the proper balance between agriculture and other occupations. If a certain proportion of the men in the cities—say, one-fourth—were to go upon the land and become food producers, the whole situation would be relieved to that extent. The supply of food products would be increased, and the number of people wanting to buy them would be reduced; thus prices would fall to a reasonable level. The reduction in the number of people in the cities wanting dwellings would lessen the demand for city houses, and the upward course of rents would be abated. House-building would continue at a normal rate, but there would be no fear of famine prices for either material or labor. The man or men on the land would have no rent to pay for mere shelter; the supplies on their tables they would get at the cost only of their own labor, and their surplus would help to alleviate the tension in the cities. Socialism in this connection is a mere dream. The cry should be, "Back to the land!"—Hamilton Spectator.

Britain and Germany

Germans and Britons are still discussing the question of the reduction of naval armament, but they approach the subject in such a fashion that there is little hope of an agreement being reached. The British insist upon retaining their present degree of superiority, and that demands a cessation of construction on the part of the Germans, but the German disputants assert that even should a halt be called by the Kaiser, that would not furnish any assurance that England would not go on increasing her superiority by building warships for foreigners, which could be taken possession of while in her shipyards. It's a pretty quarrel, but it seems to be a very foolish one, in view of the fact that both sides are constantly proclaiming that they do not want war; that war would be disastrous to both countries, and that the draft on the taxpayer is becoming unendurable in both Great Britain and Germany. That being the case, why not let up? If they concluded to do so, they would find no difficulty in persuading others to come into the programme. "Let us have peace."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Commercial Treaties

Mr. Asquith's plea that his government has nothing to do with the Canadian government's foreign agreements is tantamount to a statement that his government abdicates its imperial functions. That Canada has large liberty in the making of commercial treaties is a fact. That she has the same latitude in the making of treaties having other than commercial bearings no one will pretend. Certainly it will not be maintained that the right has ever been conceded to our government to conclude an agreement to make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. That the Knox-Fielding pact had other than commercial bearings was clearly perceived by the great mass of the people of Canada. That agreement ought to have interested the imperial government in a very high degree. But the Asquith government acted as if its ambassador at Washington were merely giving his good offices to a foreign government which, because of strained relations or other reason, was not in a position to have a representative of its own at that capital.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Syndicalism and Industrial Control

At a recent discussion in London, England, organized by the Sociological Society, Mr. Graham Wallas, a well-known lecturer on social and economic questions, and a member of the senate of London University, read a paper on "Syndicalism." He found an analogy for the latest phase of the industrial question, in the form of government practiced in the walled cities of mediaevel Europe, where the direction of affairs was largely undertaken by the guilds and crafts. Syndicalism he traced to the growing dissatisfaction with the representative system of government on to a working class reaction against the Socialist political scheme. Great modern industries, said Mr. Wallas, had three claimants to their control and direction—the capitalist owners of the means of production, the state and those who worked on the means of production. The early nineteenth century individualists claimed unrestricted control for the owners, while the Socialists of the last quarter of that century claimed unrestricted control for the state. There has now come the claim for unrestricted control by the workers.—Toronto World.

BEWARE THE FLY!

Health Department Sends Circulars To Householders Asking Them To Wage War Upon Pest

To impress upon the householders of Victoria the danger from the prevalence of flies, and the ability of the insects to spread disease, the city health department has circulated nearly 5,000 circulars calling attention to the necessity of taking measures to banish the germ-carrying flies from the household.

The circular is bordered with a series of illustrations calculated to impress upon Victorians the danger which lurks in the so-called house-fly. The illustrations, while somewhat of the "yellow" variety, will doubtless impress the recipients of the circular with the necessity of ridding their premises of the pest. The circular reads as follows:

"Ninety-eight per cent. of all flies in our homes are the ordinary house flies, recently called "Typhoid flies." Dirty homes, dirty people, dirty surroundings and typhoid flies are always seen together. Manure, garbage and filth breed flies and death at the same time. Flies feed upon fecal matter and then, literally alive with germs, swarm upon the dinner table. Flies eat tubercular sputum and excrete the germs of tuberculosis or consumption. Flies produce dysentery, diarrhoea, typhoid fever, consumption and other fatal diseases. Flies are born in indescribable filth, live in filth, eat filth and carry filth. Screen windows and doors and protect food supplies from flies at once. Save your babies."

With the approach of the hot weather the medical health department is endeavoring to impress upon Victorians the imperative necessity of clean premises, the removal of refuse matter and proper disposal of garbage in order that the fly pest may be reduced to a minimum.

Ten Million Negroes

When the census figures of 1900 were published they revealed the fact that in the forty years since slavery the negro population had doubled. It was 4,441,830 in 1860 and 8,833,994 in 1900.

Now that we are beginning to get returns from the 1910 census, writes Booker T. Washington, in the New York 'independent,' we learn that during the last ten years the race has added almost another million (994,300) to its stature.

According to the thirteenth census the negro population was 9,828,294, and if it has increased at the same rate since 1910 that it did before namely, 11.30 per cent for the decade, or about one hundred thousand a year, it is now considerably more than ten million.

The importance of these facts is that it assures the physical existence of the race. The negro is not dying out. The rate of increase among negroes is not as great as it was some years ago, but that is true of every civilized country in the world in which the population is not increased by immigration.

The census of 1911 shows, for example, that the rate of increase for the English people, measured by the excess of births over deaths, is 12.4 per cent. The natural rate of increase of the white population, excluding increase by immigration, was estimated at twenty per cent. in the period of 1880 to 1890, and is not quite 15 per cent. for the period from 1900 to 1910.

The census shows that the white population is increasing more rapidly than the negro in the Southern States. This is due in part to the fact that while there is a movement in the black population northward from the border states like Kentucky, Tennessee and Maryland, there is at the same time a movement of the white population southward, particularly in the direction of Florida, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

The statistics show for example, that while the negro population has actually decreased in the border states mentioned and the increase in Virginia and Delaware was no more than 1.6 per cent, the increase of the negro population in the Northern States was 18.4 per cent.

This does not mean as some persons have said, that the negro population is shifting from the southern to the northern states. The fact is that the total increase of negro population in the north during the decade from 1900 to 1910 amounted to no more than 167,879. During the same period negro population in the south has grown from 7,921,969 to 8,749,390, an increase of 826,121. As a matter of fact, the increase in the north over the south has been more than one half of one per cent. of the whole negro population.

The truth is, that negro emigration from the border states has not been directed excusively toward the north. On the contrary, there has been, perhaps, an even larger movement of the negro population south and west. For example, in Arkansas, Oklahoma and West Virginia the negro population has not only increased in numbers more rapidly than in most southern states but this increase has been more rapid than that of the white population in the same states.

In Oklahoma the white population increased 115.5 per cent, from 1900 to 1910. In the second period the negro population increased 147.1 per cent. in West Virginia the percentage of increase for whites was 26.4 per cent, for negroes, 47.5 per cent. In Arkansas the percentage of increase for whites was 19.7 per cent.; for negroes, 20.7. In Florida, where there has been a large immigration from the north during the past decade, the negro population increased less rapidly than the white.

In spite of this fact the percentage of increase was 23.8, showing that there has been a very considerable negro immigration into Florida from other parts of the south. The average increase of negro population in the southwestern states—Kansas, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma—has been 17.1 per cent.

Another striking fact which the census figures have disclosed is that in the readjustment which is now taking place in the south between the city and whole remains in the country, while the white man goes to town.

Railway Commission Vacancy

TORONTO, May 20.—Sir James Whitney denied the story that Hon. W. J. Hanna had been offered the chairmanship of the Dominion railway commission in succession to the late Justice Mabee.

EXPENSIVE TEST

Too Literal Interpretation of Orders Makes Analysis of Sewer Pipe An Expensive One

Never do a thing unless it is done thoroughly, is the motto of at least one individual whose name graces the civic pay sheet. And while it is common practice everywhere to condemn the methods in vogue in civic administration and the execution of civic works the Victoria individual in question certainly showed recently that he could not be classed in the category of those who lack thoroughness in their duties. The story of the employee's faith to his trust has been going the rounds of the city hall corridors for some days, and has been an object lesson to other employees.

Recently it was decided that tests of the cement sewer pipe which the city ordered for sewer purposes from a Vancouver firm should be made with the object of ascertaining if the city is getting what it requires and what it is paying for. With this end in view an employee was told to take samples of the pipe to Mr. Best, the city chemist, whose quarters are located on the top floor of the city hall. Here entered the industrious employee. With four men and a dray he laboriously transported a section of pipe forty inches in diameter and weighing some hundreds of pounds to the city hall, more laboriously hauled it up three flights of stairs and as the entrance of Mr. Best's laboratory was not wide enough the pipe was allowed to repose upon the landing awaiting the result of the test.

Mr. Best, on arrival at his office the next morning, was forced to climb over the obstructing pipe. He at first imagined it was it species of Hallow'een joke until informed that he was expected to make a test of the material. A hammer soon knocked off sufficient samples for the purpose. Then the industrious employee again got in his work. It took another four men and tackle to get the large pipe down the stairs and a dray to cart it back to the place where the piping is stored. It evidently never appealed to the aforesaid industrious one that he could just as easily have knocked the necessary samples off the pipe while it reposed at the yards.

A rough calculation puts the cost of securing the samples at a round $25, including cost of transfer and salaries of the men engaged.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE

(Before Lampman, Co. J.)

Waitte vs. Stooke: Action to recover commission on the sale of some real property. Plaintiff's evidence was that defendant asked him if he knew anyone who wanted to purchase a house, and the price was ultimately fixed at $2,600, on terms, and that there was to be $100 commission to be included in that sum for plaintiff. Defendant denied that there was any agreement for commission, and also contradicted the evidence as to the price mentioned as including the furniture in the house. Plaintiff procured a purchaser and defendant offered him $10. Defendant also set up a defence that plaintiff not being in the real estate business, and defendant not having spoken to him about the sale of the property in that capacity, he was not entitled to the usual commission allowed to real estate agents. Without considering it necessary to give judgment on that point, the judge dismissed the action on the ground that plaintiff had not satisfied the onus cast upon him to show that there was an agreement to to pay commission. C. F. Davie for plaintiff; J. A. Aikman for defendant.

FRUIT CROP WILL BE HEAVY THIS YEAR

Mr. R. M. Winslow Finds All the Forecasts Pointing That Way—More Cars to Be Given

Mr. R. M. Winslow, of the horticultural branch of the department of agriculture has returned from a visit to the Okanagan, where he went primarily to attend a conference of the B. C. Fruit Growers' association at which the chief topic of discussion was the recent rate concessions on the part of the C. P. R. and also the railway car service to the district for the coming season. The recently formed shipping agents association sent delegates to the conference. This latter association is a sign of the progress of the trade of the district and will form a very useful link in the chain between the grower and the consumer.

Much satisfaction was expressed at the reduced rates, and then the conference went on to discuss their requirements for car service this summer. One thousand refrigerator cars will be needed for the fruit, 300 stock cars for the early vegetables, and 400 box cars for coarse vegetables, potatoes, etc.

The forecasts for this year's yield, point to a very heavy crop indeed, twice as much as that of last year being expected. The Okanagan district has come through the winter well and very little winter injury has been done. Practically every peach tree is said to have set a good crop, and at Peachland apricots are already one inch long. Cherries are setting a very heavy crop and there is an extraordinary promise of this crop, some trees being estimated to yield a quarter of a ton. In fact apples and peaches will need a great deal of thinning out to obtain fruit of good size, and where this precaution is neglected growers will find their returns disappointing. The prairie market for instance does not care to accept peaches that go more than ninety to the box.

Mr. Bonavia is at work on his estimates of crops and acreage and, supplementing his work, the B. C. Fruit Growers' association will also institute enquiries. But there is no doubt of the big increase of acreage under vegetables—potatoes, tomatoes and onions.

The C. P. R. has let a contract for 500 tons of potatoes for their dining cars, stipulating that no tuber shall be less than one pound or more than one and a half pounds. For this crop, which will be grown in the Okanagan, special seed has been procured and set.

The winners have issued a challenge to a team from No. two company for a similar match to lie shot in the near future.

Canadian Rifle League

The following dates have been set for the Canadian Rifle competition June 1 and 8, July 6 and 13.

The 5th Regiment, C. G. A. Rifle association has entered two teams for this series, and it is hoped the match will be kind to the marksmen on those dates.

Last year the first team secured fourth place among thirty-four competing teams from all over the Dominion, and, given favorable weather conditions the regiment trusts that they may do even better this year.

FOUR-OARED CREW RACES POSTPONED

Tuck's Shell Won First Heat But Collision Interferes With Sport

Only one four-oared crew race took place on Saturday afternoon in what was announced as being the J. B.A.A.'s inaugural regatta. The second heat and the final were postponed after the quartette stroked by E. Tuck and H. Hunter had given a very exciting exhibition, the former winning by the couple of lengths.

The other competitions would have gone on had it not been for an unfortunate accident. When H. A. Leigh and R. Hiscocks were coming down the course and had reached a point off the B. A. Paint company's works, the former's shell crashed into that of his opponent and the oarsmen had some trouble in reaching the club landing without being participated into the water.

It was then agreed that the question of superiority between these chosen crews would be allowed to remain unsettled until tomorrow when, conditions being favorable, the races will take place in the evening.

The personnel of the competing crews follows:

No. 1—H. A. Leigh, stroke; M. H. Stott, No. 3; W. B. Monteith, 2; S. J. Heald, bow.

No. 2.—E. Tuck, stroke; C. Baylis, 3; E. G. Rowebottom, 1; S. W. Newitt, bow.

No. 3.—H. Hunter, stroke; T. Roberts, 3; J. Tait, 2; D. Thomas, bow.

No. 4.—R. Hiscocks, stroke; R. B. Elworthy, 2; J. W. Cole, 2; O. Falkner, bow.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Women Vagrants Fined—Bee Wilson and Orma Larue, charged with vagrancy in the police court yesterday, pleaded guilty and were fined $25, and Norma Brisco pleaded not guilty and was remanded until this morning. Mr. J. C. McIntosh appeared for the defence.

Fighting On Street—Two couples who were taken in by the police when found fighting on the city streets were fined by Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior in the police court yesterday morning. Daniel Ryan and William Roach, who pleaded guilty to fighting but urged that as they were friends the fighting was not of consequence, were fined ten dollars each, and Samuel Ber and Arthur Dickson, who were also fighting, paid similar fines.

Interest in Bee-Keeping—Mr. F. D. Todd, foul brood inspector is conducting a tour of inspection and education through the districts of Chilliwack, Agassiz, Matsqui prairie, and Mission city. He reports very favorably as to the condition of the bees and the good attendance at the meetings he has held. There is a great demand for bees now in many districts. Mr. Todd found the bees at Chilliwack doing well, indeed, the death rate last winter between Mission and Agassiz was only 50 per cent., an exceptionally low mortality. In other places in the interior, notably at Kelowna the loss during the winter months had been very heavy and there is in consequence such a scarcity that one buyer's offer of $20 for a hive found no takers. The interest taken in bees in the fruit growing districts is very remarkable; everyone seems to wish to have them.

School Picnic—The pupils of the entrance class of the George Jay school held their annual picnic at the Willows Beach on Saturday. The party composed almost all the members of the class, girls and boys, together with their principal, Mr. H. B. MacLean, Mrs. MacLean and little Helen and Miss Le Clercq and Mr. Jenkins, of the teaching staff. The day was spent in games and all the good things that go to make a successful picnic, not forgetting the dinner and supper on the beach. They formed a happy party, with their bundles, as they waited for their car on Douglas street, and they had a contented, though tired, appearance as they wended their way homeward in the evening. They unanimously agreed that they had spent one of the most enjoyable days of their lives and that it would form another bond of union with one another and with their teachers.

Women's Institutes—Below is given the itinerary of the spring meetings arranged by the Women's Institutes branch of the department of agriculture, at which lectures will be given on the commercial aspects of agricultural occupations for women. The lecturer, Mrs. S. K. Davies, of Vancouver, has had a practical experience of making poultry-raising pay in British Columbia, and will speak on that and dairying for profit, market-gardening, and floriculture for profit and pleasure. Many of the institutes are arranging to hold flower shows at the date of these meetings. The afternoon sessions will begin at 2.30 p.m. and the evening at 8 o'clock. Last night the first meeting was held at Colwood. The other dates fixed are as follows: Metchosin, May 21; Sooke and Otter, May 22; Lake Hill, May 23; Royal Oak, May 25; Gordon Head, May 27; Comox, May 30; Central Park, June 3; Langley, June 4; Tynehead, June 5; Coquitlam, June 7; Surrey, June 8; Chilliwack, June 10; Matsqui, June 11; Agassiz, June 12; Mission City, June 13; Salmon Arm, June 15; Summerland, June 17; Penticton, June 19; Nelson, June 22; Kaslo, June 24; Cranbrook, June 26, and Nakusp, June 28th.

Injured by Motor Car—While hesitating in the roadway, undecided whether to catch a street car or return to the sidewalk for safety, Mr. W. H. Huxtable yesterday at noon was knocked down by a motor car on Douglas street and sustained a scalp injury. Owing to the slippery nature of the pavement, the brakes failed to bring the motor car to a full stop, and the driver finally turned it on to the kerb, where the shock of the impact threw his feet off the brake and the car, proceeding, collided with the plate glass window of Messrs. D. L. Hickey and company, electrical engineers, shattering it to pieces. Mr. Huxtable, the victim of the accident, was at once taken to his home, where he is little the worse for his injury. Speaking of the happening, Mr. F. Waddington, the driver of the motor car, said: "Mr. Huxtable was undecided whether to take the street car or return to the sidewalk. The roadway being in a slippery condition, the machine failed to respond entirely to the brakes. The impact with the kerb threw my foot off the brake, and the car travelled several feet across the sidewalk, colliding with and damaging the plate glass window. I regret the accident exceedingly. Mr. Huxtable has had every attention, and has fortunately escaped with one bruise. He and I are old-time friends, and on that account the accident is all the more painful to me."

Trails Desired—A resolution passed at the last meeting of the Clayoquot branch of the Vancouver Island Development League has been received at the central office in Victoria with a request that its petition to the Dominion government be endorsed by the main body for trails between Clayoquot and Ucluelet. The resolution points out to the Dominion government that their portion on the coast is the most dangerous on the western side of the island, and recalls the promise made some time ago by the minister of marine and fisheries that trails shall be cut between the beaches for the purposes of establishing a life-saving service there. A London clerk with a capital of between $500 and $1000 wishes to try his fortune on Vancouver Island. He is 43 and of active business habits. A Glasgow furniture firm asks for a list of the auctioneering firms in the city, and a shipping firm from the same city is sending out a domestic whom it recommends to the league for direction as to where to obtain work. Many other requests for literature and information come from Alberta, Saskatchewan, the mainland of this province and various parts of the British Isles.

Victorian Order Moves—The Victorian Order of Nurses' home has been moved to 22 Chester street, 'Phone R 1072.

Permit Granted—A building permit has been issued by the Oak Bay authorities to Mr. C. G. Walsh for the erection of a five-roomed house on Oliver street at an estimated cost of $1,950.

Blocking the Street—Owen Davis, a hackman, was charged in the police court yesterday morning with blocking the street with a hack. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until this morning.

An Explanation—Through a printer's error articles on the west coast of Vancouver Island appearing in the last two issues of the magazine section of the Colonist were not credited to Capt. F. V. Langstaff, F.R.G.S. This gentleman has made some very interesting exploratory trips around the island and his contributions to the Colonist have elicited appreciative references.

Militia Departure—A departure is being tried in forming active Militia sections of the ordnance corps, consisting of a lieutenant, quartermaster-sergeant, sergeant, N. C. O. and men to number of twenty, inclusive of above. Their work will be to handle camp and other military equipment. The sections are at London, Ont., Toronto, Ont. and Kingston Ont.

Illuminated Boats—Boating enthusiasts are looking forward to the forthcoming Empire Day celebration to make a display of illuminated craft on the waters of the arm. It is doubtful if there is any city in the world as fortunately situated in respect to facilities for aquatic sports—the picturesque stretches of the Arm and the waters of the Gorge lending themselves to full enjoyment in this prime pastime. The prizes offered this year will serve to stimulate renewed interest in the matter of boat illuminations; and the local clubs are it is understood, planning a display which will be in full keeping with the importance of the occasion.

St. John Ambulance Association—The examination of Dr. L. F. Houghton's class on first aid to the injured was held on Saturday. Dr. Gibson, of Vancouver, was the examiner. The following ladies passed and will receive certificates signed by the Duke of Connaught: Mrs. J. L. Beckwith, Mrs. H. C. Brewster, Mrs. Harry Catteral, Mrs. J. F. Fraser, Mrs. H. H. Jones, Mrs. W. E. Pierce, Mrs. Alexander Robinson, Mrs. Shepherd, Mrs. A. J. Thomas, Miss C. Anderson, Miss E. E. Carr, Miss Denny, Miss S. G. Gordon, Miss Huxtable, Miss K. Oldfield, Miss S. Munro, Miss Ralph, Miss Whitton.

Daughters of Empire—At the extraordinary general meeting of the Daughters of Empire, held at the Alexandra club yesterday, a warm tribute was paid to the memory of the late Miss Agnes Deans Cameron. At the request of the First Regent, Mrs. Croft, Mrs. King undertook to form a chapter to be called the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, with the motto of her former school, "Do your work as well as you can and be kind," this being the thought brought prominently before her classes in her daily work for many years. All those wishing to join may be enrolled as charter members by sending name and address to Mrs. King, 1168 Caledonia avenue, or Mrs. David Miller, 824 Victoria Crescent.

Charged With Theft—B. McGan and Wm. Goodwin were charged in the police court yesterday with stealing a suit case, a pair of blankets and three bottles of whisky. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded until today.

Dog Case Again—The charge of keeping a vicious dog brought against Samuel Watt, of Victoria West, whose dog bit six-year-old Florence Milbay, was again brought up in the police court yesterday. When last before the court the case was withdrawn and the magistrate directed that it be brought under the Animals Act. Meanwhile Watt gave away the dog to a man at Parsons bridge. The prosecution asks that the dog be done away with. Mr. Aikman, for the defence, argued that the accused could not be again charged on the ground of "autrefois acquit." After the evidence of the little girl had been heard the case was remanded for a week.

Presentation—The members of First Presbyterian church choir, instead of holding their regular practice last night, paid a visit to the residence of one of the most popular members, Miss Maud Sexsmith, and presented her with an address and beautiful piece of silverware, suitably engraved, to mark the occasion of her marriage today. The whole affair was arranged in the nature of a surprise party, Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith making the best of hosts. Music, recitations, games, etc., were engaged in and during a short intermission the presentation took place, Mrs. Lewis Hall, organist of the choir, making it, while Mr. J. G. Brown, the choirmaster, read the address. Miss Sexsmith responded with feeling. A vote of thanks to their hosts was passed with three cheers, also cheers for the popular young pair, after which Auld Lang Syne was sung and the happy party dispersed.

TENDERS CALLED FOR MORE PAVING

Contract for 211,000 Yards Will Be Let Shortly—Important Changes in Wording of Specifications

At last night's meeting of the city council the action of the streets committee in deciding to call for tenders for 211,000 yards of paving was ratified and adopted and the advertisement for the same will be issued at once, tenders to be in by May 31.

This contract represents but a third of what was undertaken in this respect last year, at which time 600,000 yards was let to the Canadian Mineral Rubber company. That contract is still under way.

The specifications upon which the new work will be tendered for are the same as those upon which last year's contract was let, but with several important changes. The minimum wage of 34½ cents per hour called for last year has been raised to 37½ cents, or $3 for an eight-hour day. The percentage of bitumen has been raised from nine to 12 per cent to 11 to 13 per cent, as experience has demonstrated that the percentage of bitumen was not sufficient to meet the requirements of Victoria's climatic conditions, and accordingly a larger quantity will be demanded in the new pavements. Another alteration is that relating to the quality of the sand to be used, the fineness being considerably reduced. The specifications call for a standard asphalt pavement consisting of a concrete base of four inches, with a wearing surface of two inches for light asphalt and five inches for heavy asphalt, with a one inch binder course and a wearing surface two inches thick.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Street Accident—Yesterday afternoon Miss Tidbury, of this city, was accidentally knocked down at the corner of Broad and Fort streets and sustained such injuries as necessitated her removal to the hospital. She is now in St. Joseph's and inquiry last night elicited the information that she was not seriously injured.

Contract Awarded—Messrs. Cullitton Bros., of Spokane, have been awarded the contract for grading and bridge work on the first ten miles of the new extension from McBride Junction to Courtenay by the Island branch of the C.P.R. Work will be commenced by the contractors immediately. The section of country to be opened up by the new line has immense agricultural possibilities.

New Books at Library—Among the recent additions to the shelves of the Free Library are "Lady Baltimore" by Owen Wister, "An Iron Woman" by Deland; "No Man's Land" by Vance; "Potash and Perlmutter" by Glass; "The Second Generation" by D. C. Phillips;" "A Prodigal Pro Tem" by Bartlett; and "A Prodigal Judge" by Kester. A large shipment of new books has been received from England and will be rendered available to the public as fast as the library staff can handle it.

Seen From Window—Fred Lavelle was presented before the magistrate in the police court yesterday, charged with entering a house on Cook street. He denied the charge and was remanded. The evidence in this case will turn largely upon the identification of the prisoner by a young lady who declares that she saw the man leaving the house at five o'clock in the morning. She asked him what he was doing and was told to "mind her own business," which she did by calling out, at which the prisoner is alleged to have run away.

Extradition Proceedings — Before Judge Lampman, as extradition commissioner, application was made yesterday morning for the extradition to the state of Washington of David Levy, who is accused of arson in Seattle. He was in partnership with a man named Berg as tailors, and had the stock-in-trade insured for $6000. The premises were burned, and both men disappeared, defendant being located in Victoria. The hearing of the application for a warrant of extradition was set for Saturday next. Mr. C. L. Harrison appeared in support of the application, and Mr. Henry B. Hall for the defense.

Christian Science Lecture—The Victoria theatre was crowded with a large and deeply interested audience last evening on the occasion of an interesting lecture given there by Mr. Virgil O. Strickler, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church of Christian Science, Boston, Mass. The speaker outlined the tenets of Christian Science in an eloquent and forceful manner, which made a deep impression on all who heard him. He received a warm vote of thanks at the close.

Auditor for School Board—Mr. M. J. Cregan, C.A., Vancouver, has been appointed by Attorney-General Bowser to act as auditor in connection with the investigation into the books of the South Vancouver school board and municipal council, which is being held as a result of the recent absconding of the treasurer, Spencer Robinson, for whose arrest a warrant is out on a charge of misappropriation. Last week a deputation from the municipality waited upon Mr. Bowser and explained the circumstances to him. They begged that he would appoint an auditor to go fully into the books of the school board and the municipality. Mr. Bowser at the time promised to consider the matter. He immediately came to the conclusion that such an investigation was necessary, and he has now gratified the wishes of the deputation by making the appointment referred to.

Adjustable Silo Mould—A silo curb or mould is shortly to be added to the plant of the provincial department of agriculture. It is an adjustable silo arrangement into which the concrete is poured for the construction of a silo. As a mould of this character is somewhat expensive and a farmer would not require the use of one for more than two or three weeks it has been considered good policy for the department to purchase one and loan it to the farmers at a nominal charge. Already the mould has been ordered and it is expected to be in the province by the beginning of next month. In the first instance its use will be confined to the farmers located on Vancouver Island. It will be let in the order of application, the farmers paying the freight from the place where it was last in use and at the same time a nominal fee for use. No farmer will be allowed to keep the mould for more than a reasonable time. The mould can be adjusted to a height of from five to sixteen feet and by its aid concrete silo may be constructed in a few days at little expense and less labor as against the laborious and expensive practice of constructing a wooden one which prevails at present.

ORDAINED TO THE MINISTRY OF WORD

Five Candidates Are Admitted As Pastors of the Methodist Church By the Provincial Conference

An interesting ceremony was performed at the morning service of the Metropolitan Methodist church on Sunday when five young candidates for the ministry received the rite of ordination from the venerable general superintendent, Dr. Carman, who was assisted in the laying on of hands by the president of conference, Rev. Geo. H. Raley, the late president, Rev. A. E. Roberts, Rev. A. M. Sanford, Rev. T. E. Holling, Rev. R. F. Stillman, secretary of conference, Rev. Dr. White, Rev. F. F. Betts and Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore.

The candidates were Messrs. Charles E. Batzold, E. C. Curry, John Gibson, T. A. Osborne and G. B. Ridland. Rev. Dr. Carman was the preacher. He chose as his text the first three verses of St. Paul's epistle to Titus and also referred to the closing verses of the epistle to the Romans which preceded it, his main theme being "The obedience of faith." He pointed out in the course of his sermon that there were several kinds of obedience. Obedience to faith was not the cringing obedience of fear, nor was it simply that of respect to authority, or that which looked for gain, but it was a voluntary willing obedience in recognition of the supremacy of the Being who uttered these words.

After the sermon the candidates were admonished by the president of conference and responded to the different questions put to them. Then kneeling, they received the laying on of hands and repeated the Veni Creator Spiritus.

A somewhat similar ceremony took place in the Centennial church at the evening service, when Dr. Carman received two deaconesses, Miss Collins and Miss Henderson, into the full service of the church.

ALLEGED THIEF IS BROUGHT TO BOOK

Robert Glazebrook Arrested Handily—Believed To Be Perpetrator of Many House Burglaries

Robert Glazebrook, alleged house thief, who is believed to have been responsible for a number of robberies that have taken place in the city recently, was brought up in the police court yesterday and charged with two offences, one of having stolen a quantity of jewellery and the other of having a similar quantity in his possession knowing it to have been stolen. The accused was remanded till Thursday.

If Glazebrook is the man the police think he is, then the mysterious disappearance of jewellry from a large number of houses will be revealed and explained. For some time past, the police have received innumerable complaints regarding such losses by people who were absent from their homes, and it would appear from the consistent methods employed that it was all the work of one man.

Glazebrook has been wanted by the police for some time and description of him was in their possession. As a tribute to the accuracy of that description it should be stated that it was the direct means of effecting his arrest. Mrs. W. H. Handley, wife of Detective W. H. Handley, observed the accused leaving the house of Mr. H. H. Shade, city plumbing inspector, and thinking that he acted rather suspiciously, she remembered the description which her husband had given her of such a man and immediately realized that he was the man wanted. She at once communicated with headquarters and Detective Murray was deputed to pick up the man. Hurrying to the scene he met Mrs. Handley, who directed him to where Glazebrook had gone and, following the direction, he soon came up with him. He engaged him in conversation and immediately became convinced that all was not as it should be with Glazebrook, so he took him to his address and there discovered a quantity of jewelry estimated to be worth $500.

The jewellery consists of all kinds of brooches, rings, stones, and pins, and though in many cases they have been dismembered, it is believed that they will be readily identified. The police are convinced that in Glazebrook they have at last caught the perpetrator of the house-to-house burglaries which have engaged their attention so long.

LAID TO REST

Many Prominent Citizens Attended the Last Services Over the Late Mr. G. A. Keefer

It was a sorrowful but distinguished group of pioneers who assembled yesterday morning on the occasion of the services in connection with the interment of the remains of the late Mr. George A. Kcefer, for so many years connected with the public life of the country. Many friends were in attendance from the mainland cities, and the services, both at the family residence, 820 Pemberton road and Christ Church cathedral, were most impressive.

The cortege left the residence at 10 a. m. and wended its way to the cathedral, where services were conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Scriven, assisted by Rev. W. Barton, both of whom made touching reference to the high esteem in which deceased had been held and to the exemplary life he had led.

The floral tributes were in great abundance, among them being wreaths from the board of trade, the provincial civil service and the federal government. Three hymns were sung during the service at the cathedral, "Lead Kindly Light," "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart," and "The Strife is O'er, the Battle Won." Mr. Pauline officiated at the organ and as the bier was borne from the cathedral played the dead march from "Saul."

The honorary pallbearers were Mr. J. A. Mara, Hon. Col. Prior, Col. Rogers, Col. Peters, and Messrs. H. J. Cambie, C. F. Hanington, J. H. Gray, and E. Mohun. The eight active pallbearers were Captains Newcombe, Brown, Young, Gosse, Philpot, Rogers, Barry and Pamphlett.

Interment was made in Ross Bay cemetery, Ven. Archdeacon Scriven reading the commitment service.

FISHERIES DEPUTY GACK

Mr. McIntyre Predicts a Wonderful Growth in the Industry in the North in Near Future

Mr. D. N. McIntyre, deputy minister of fisheries, returned on Sunday evening from his northern trip of inspection of the salf water fisheries.

This was Mr. McIntyre's first official visit to the north, and he was greatly impressed with what he saw. He made Prince Rupert his headquarters while away, and he states that the northern port is enjoying a share of the prosperous wave that is at present visiting the entire province. His object in going north was to inspect the fisheries, get in touch with their organization, make the acquaintance of the overseers and introduce others to the work.

As a result of his visit he anticipates a rapid development in the fisheries. Everything is being conducted along the most scientific lines, conditions are good, fish are plentiful and money is ready for the enterprise. He predicts that in a very short time the industry will startle the world with its growth.

OHIO PRIMARIES

Voting Today in Storm Centre of U. S. Political Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 20.—Ohio rested tonight from the strain of the last two weeks' campaign during which candidates bombarded the state and is ready for tomorrow's primaries.

Republican preference primaries in Ohio, the home of two of the candidates, are considered the crux of an unusual political situation.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 20.—President Taft's seven days of speech-making throughout Ohio came to an end here tonight with a final plea to Republicans to give him their support at tomorrow's primaries and to defeat Colonel Theodore Roosevelt who, Mr. Taft dubbed "The Bolter." In nearly every one of a dozen speeches, Mr. Taft appealed for Republicans to consider and keep in mind Mr. Roosevelt's Cleveland speech where, the president said, he proposed a bolt. He continued to predict the wreck of the party if Mr. Roosevelt does not change his attitude and is not assured of the nomination by the Republican National convention. He asked Republicans to remember how long that party had existed, what it always had voted for and to decide for themselves whether they wished to see it disrupted to "gratify the ambition of any man."

Mr. Taft has made no predictions before any of the primaries and he followed this rule today. His friends are confident the result of his trip will be evident at the polls tomorrow. It was a hard day for Mr. Taft. The sun was hot and he was often in its full glare.

Mr. Taft's only engagement tomorrow is at the polls in Cincinnati and he expects to leave there in the afternoon for Washington.

Overturned Boat Tragedy

SPOKANE, May 20.—While employed in the construction of a bridge across the Spokane river near here Ralph E. Boggs of Boise, Idaho, and a man named Pittman, were drowned when the boat in which they were crossing the stream overturned. Two other men in the boat at the time saved themselves.

OBITUARY NOTICES

McKenzie—The funeral of the late Mr. J. R. McKenzie took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence on Lampson street, Rev. Dr. McRae officiating. There was a large attendance of friends of the deceased and many beautiful floral tributes covered the bier. The pallbearers were Messrs. Leonard Tait, W. Cane, R. Anderson, McArthur, W. Duncalfe and Captain Stromgren. A large number of members of the A. O. F., of which order the deceased was formerly secretary, attended the obsequies.

MATTERS OF MOMENT IN WOMEN'S REALM

A conference of delegates from the Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria branches of the Educational Club of British Columbia was held Friday afternoon and evening in the Centennial Methodist church.

Mrs. W. R. Reid of New Westminster the president, read an instructive and inspiring address, in which she set forth the objects of the organization. It was formed to assist Columbian College and thus promote the education of the youth of the province. Mrs. Reid dwelt upon the great future that was before the boys and girls who, in the next twenty-five years would be leaders in the affairs of this great province, and pointed out to mothers their responsibility for the spiritual as well as mental equipment of their children. This the women of the educational clubs could forward by working enthusiastically for Columbian College.

Miss Evans, the delegate from Columbian College, pointed out very comprehensively and very clearly the directions in which help was needed by the institution. The society was warmly thanked for the contributions sent last year which added very materially to the comfort of both teachers and pupils. The college now prepared students for the first and second year in Toronto university, with which it was in affiliation. When the Provincial university was opened the students would matriculate into it, especially, it was hoped, into the divinity college of the Methodist church. Such a school was indispensable in this new province, where children must be sent from remote districts and villages in which there were no high schools. Parents could not trust these young students to boarding houses in the cities.

A discussion in which Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. McDiarmid, Mrs. Gilley and others took part arose about the conduct of the domestic science department, the equipment of which had been furnished by Mrs. Massey Treble of Toronto. It was decided that the women of the club would assist this branch of the work as well as do as much as possible in other directions.

A revision of the consitution which was presented by Mrs. Betts was laid on the table, to be taken up next year, the majority considering that the club was not yet large enough to make a change necessary.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Reid; vice-presidents, Mrs. Betts and Mrs. Jenkins; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Welsh; treasurer, Mrs. Derbyshire; auditor, Mr. Sparling.

At the evening meeting Mrs. McDiarmid, on behalf of the Victoria club, welcomed the visiting members, and expressed the hope that the result of the conference would be seen in the greatly increased interest of the Victoria club in the Columbian college.

In her reply Mrs. C. A. Welsh, of Vancouver, praised the beauty of Victoria, thanked the ladies, for their hospitality, and advised them to keep their beautiful grounds one of the chief attractions of the city.

A vocal solo, sung very sweetly by Mrs. Humber, was much appreciated.

Domestic Science

Mrs. H. E. Young, who introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Alice Ravenhill, complimented the Educational club on the work it had done. No one could visit Columbian College, as she had done recently, without seeing by the appearance of the grounds and of the interior that the institution had taken a new lease of life. It was a great pleasure to introduce Miss Ravenhill, who had in the short time she had been in the province accomplished a great work by her lectures to Farmers' Institutes, and to gatherings of women. Mrs. Young then passed on to speak of the importance of the work of the home and of the need of reducing household management to a science. When labor saving devices were more common, and the importance of the work of women in the home was better understood, it would be less difficult to get capable, educated women to engage in it.

The imperial aspect of home economics was the subject upon which Miss Ravenhill gave a very thoughtful and helpful address, full of practical suggestions. The empire was compared to the human body of which the homes were the cells. It was shown that wherever the family and the home were neglected the empire decayed. The need of education, and a very thorough education, for the home maker was shown by many familiar examples. Among these was the danger from accumulations of filth. It was hard for people who had lived long in scattered communities to realize the dangers from these. Dysentery was common in this province, while in the crowded but clean cities of England it was rare and typhus unknown. Phthisis was caused by darkness, dirt and impure air.

The careless handling, preparation and distribution of food caused such diseases as scarlet fever, diphtheria and ptomaine poisoning. The results of the mismanagement of children were sickness, death, juvenile crime and insanity. The speaker dwelt at length on the preparation needed by women, whose duty it was to prepare the next generation to be wiser, stronger, and better than any that had preceded it.

At the close of the address, which was listened to with the greatest attention, a vote of thanks was given o the speaker and the meeting was closed by singing the National anthem.

Unnecessary Noise

To say that a city is "quiet" has been and is still considered a reproach. Bustle and noise are looked upon as the necessary accomplishments of progress and efficiency. The consequence has been that city life has become injurious to all except the very wealthy. While noise is not the only reason that people must spend their days in busy streets and sleep at night in districts into which the sounds of factories, tramcars and a hundred others penetrate, become prematurely unfitted for work, it is one of the causes. In this as in many other matters one city does not learn from the experience of others. Unfavorable conditions are allowed to arise and the difficult work of reform instead of the easier way of prevention, must be undertaken. But, it may be asked, are not noises necessary evils? A few years ago, a New York woman who learned of the great hindrance to the recovery of patients in the hospitals, the noises of the harbor and the streets made, set to work to study this matter. She found out that even among the almost numberless craft in New York harbor, there was no need of much of the blowing of whistles that went on. By her labors much of this was done away with and quiet zones were established in the neighborhood of the downtown hospitals. That is, traffic except what was unavoidable was turned in other directions. That the attention of the authorities of all cities has been directed to the elimination of unnecessary noises, is shown by the fact that a congress is to be held in Harvard university in August to discuss this matter. Any one who is at all observant must know that there are in this city, as well as in all larger centres of population, many useless noises. It is to be feared that in many instances the making of these has been encouraged. That the thoughtful men and women, who will gather at Harvard, will be able to show that much of the nerve strain now caused by the city's noises may be avoided, and how this is to be done, is much to be wished.

Honesty

There have lately been many instances of dishonesty in the cities of the province and it is to be feared that the evil is spreading. Are the mothers of the children alive to the dangers that are sure to beset their boys and their girls, too, when they enter the business world. The necessity for making a good appearance, the salaries paid and the prevalence of speculation are all features in life today which lead one to fear for the young people who are forced into the life of cities without the strength of character and the fixed principles which will enable them to hold their integrity, even if to do so they must defy public opinion. Mothers, and only mothers, can so form a child's character that no temptation, however strong, will lead him to use that which does not belong to him. The training of a child in a knowledge and observance of the rights of others may be begun very young. The little one who leaves home for school at six or seven is usually to be trusted not to touch what does not belong to him. There are, however, mothers who indulge their children and permit them to have anything they wish for. The teacher is to be pitied who has to begin the training at school age which ought to have commenced at babyhood. Yet she cannot avoid the responsibility thrust upon her. The boy or the girl who leaves school with a fixed sense of the wickedness of theft in any of its many forms is comparatively safe.

Yet there is still something that women can do to safeguard the youths and maidens who are venturing out into the world. Our social customs too often demand an outlay for dress with which it is impossible for young people earning small salaries to comply with. There is, too, among people of all classes, a passion for investment, which is dangerous. This is seen everywhere. The young fellow who knows that others have made money by fortunate investments is only too likely to incur obligations which he may not be able to meet. The temptation to "borrow"—that is, to steal—his employer's money expecting that the property will rise in value and that he can return the money is often not resisted. There are too many sad instances of the ruin that follows. Can women not teach their children that to spend in any form of self-indulgence or in endeavoring to forward their own interests money which has not been already earned is wrong. Good times bring their own temptations. We live in an age of extravagant display and of lavish expenditure. Whether or not these are right for the wealthy is a matter for them to decide. There are women in all large cities who, though possessing great wealth, dress very quietly. There are millionaires who live modest, wholesome lives. But while wealth brings its responsibilities they are not those about which the majority of people in any city need concern themselves. The working woman who tries to dress as well and to enjoy as many pleasures as her rich neighbor is in danger, and the youth who lives beyond his means is on the road to ruin. These may be truisms but many a young life has been irretrievably ruined in proving them by experience to be so.

Canadian Handicrafts Guild

The advisability of keeping alive among the people of a new country the handicrafts of their native lands and of encouraging the natives of Canada to continue the production of their old arts has induced a number of prominent people in Great Britain, Canada and the United States to form a strong association called the Canadian Handicrafts Guild.

There are in Canada great numbers of immigrants from European countries. These are only the advance guard of a great army who will, in the near future, till our fertile fields or make their homes in our cities. The women of all Northern Europe are skilled in embroidery, and those of Sweden have learned woodwork. Everyone is familiar with the beautiful knitting of the women from the Shetland and other northern islands. British Columbians know how exquisite is the work done by the Indians of the Pacific coast and the Micmacs of Eastern Canada are noted for the beadwork, porcupine work and basket weaving. In the province of Quebec the French-Canadians were most industrious, and some of their weaving is very beautiful both in color and design. To this province many gentlewomen from Ireland as well as from England and Scotland have brought skill in embroidery, lacemaking and fine needlework. It is felt by the guild that Canada will be greatly the loser if women forget these arts. Not only does their execution tend to encourage forms of industry which are pleasant and interesting, but it adds, in some cases very materially, to the incomes of families who are often in great need of ready money. More than this, domestic industries help to develop both the artistic taste and the mechanical ability of a people. Mothers who love beauty of design and harmony of color and who make the most of their leisure are not likely to have dull or awkward children. These are some of the reasons which have induced a number of ladies and gentlemen to open depots in Montreal, Ottawa, Edmonton and other places in Canada, where all such goods may be sold for the benefit of the makers. From time to time exhibitions are held and the interest of the people in the cities stimulated. In 1907 the guild obtained a room in the Dublin exhibition, where the Canadian work was greatly admired. It was shown also at the Franco-British exhibition. Special efforts are being made by the guild to preserve the Indian arts, and an attempt has begun to aid Dr. Grenfell's Labrador mission by purchasing from workers articles of pottery, weaving and other industries and supplying the women with wool till they are able to raise sheep of their own.

Those familiar with country life in Eastern Canada know that during the winter women who have small families have leisure to provide clothing and comforts for their homes if they have money to purchase materials. It is then that those who have skill in handicrafts may manufacture articles for sale. As everyone who has tried it knows, it is very difficult indeed to sell such articles in the ordinary stores. The commission charged is high, and they cannot be suitably displayed, but in the depots and stores of the guild such work may be handled with advantage to the workers. Only the expense of sale is made, as no profit accrues to the members of the guild. His royal highness the Duke of Connaught and the Duchess are patrons of the guild, and a large number of the most prominent people in Eastern Canada are members of this truly patriotic association.

Victoria Brings Mike Lynch and His Squad Tomorrow for Series of Four Games—Pippins Come Next Week

Victoria leads in the Northwestern League race again, having won Sunday's game with Seattle. Now the attention of the local fans will be focused on the Bees' series with Tacoma, which should have started yesterday at the Sound city, but was postponed because of rain. The same happened at Vancouver and Portland so that there is no change in the league standing from that which followed the Sunday fixtures.

This week the Wattelet squad is billed to do an unusual amount of travelling. After tomorrow's game with Tacoma at Seattle they will come to their home city for a brief visit. Games will be played with Mike Lynch's truants on the Royal Athletic grounds tomorrow, and Thursday, with two as a windup on Friday, Victoria Day. Then First Baseman Meek, with his lusty stick, and his followers will hop back to Seattle for Saturday's encounter, making another jump to Tacoma for Sunday's fixture. Starting on Monday, the 27th inst., and continuing to the Wednesday following the fans will have Nick Williams and his tribe of Portland Pippins with them. This series will be finished on Dugdale's grounds at Seattle.

The other teams are playing this week as follows:

Seattle at Vancouver to Saturday with Sunday's game in Seattle.

Spokane at Portland through to next Sunday.

How Bees Did It

The Seattle P. I. published the following account of Victoria's Sunday victory:

"Victoria took the lead again in the Northwestern League pennant race on Sunday afternoon by shutting out the Vancouver champions, 6 to 0. The game was played at Dugdale's park and despite threatening weather drew 2,000. The clubs were in luck, as rain came down three minutes after the last man was out.

"Kaufman was the stumbling block in the path of the champs. Six hits were scored against the long, lean chap, but only four were the real goods. He did not show enough speed to break a pane of glass, but he pitched a game that was entitled to be classed with the best seen here this season. Even Pug Bennett could not find the seam on the "fat ones." Kaufman is what one should call a scientific pitcher. His control is almost perfect and he works the batter to a finish. He did not give a pass.

"'Toots' Agnew pitched his first professional game in Seattle. All his relatives were out to watch him and of course he had nothing. Over-anxious, he got in the hole at the first and put a couple on with passes. A hit by Meek, Keller's homer and a passed ball had counted four. Kennedy's double and Meek's second single yielded another in the third. Kennedy got the longest homer of the year in the eighth, when he drove the ball over the left field fence close to the Rainier beer bottle sign in the corner.

"Meek led both teams in batting with an average of 1.000. He delivered three line hits and was walked once. James led at bat for Vancouver, but one of his three was a scratch." Score:

ALL DAY MATCH WON BY DUNCAN

Oak Bay Cricketers Fall Before Cowichan District Eleven—Victorians Are Heartily Welcomed by Up-Island Players

On Saturday afternoon Oak Bay C. C. journeyed to Duncan to play an all-day game against the Cowichan team. The teams, both being newly organized, were very keen to meet and a very interesting game resulted. Although defeated the Oak Bay team speak in the highest terms of the exquisitely courteous treatment they received and Cowichan have demonstrated that at cricket, as at everything else, they are excellent hosts and good sportsmen.

The game started after the arrival of the Victoria train, Cowichan batting being opened by Greenhill and Milne. The start was disastrous, the wickets falling as follows: 1 for 3, 2 for 5, 3 for 8, 4 for 16 and 5 for 23. However F. C. Drake and M. A. McAdam (who played with Vancouver last year) put an entirely different complexion on the game, and by vigorous cricket carried the score to 86 before being separated. The innings finally reached the total of 109 runs.

Oak Bay started badly, losing Cooper before he had scored, and then began to do better, both Paul and Barclay playing a good defensive game. Outside of these two and Milne (14), however, the team offered little resistance to the bowling and were retired for 65—46 runs behind.

Cowichan in their venture got 83, leaving Oak Bay 129 to tie and 130 to win. The team, however, could only amass the poor total of 32, and lost by 97 runs. The score:

SPRING SALMON IN SAANICH ARM

Victoria Week-End Fishermen Report Splendid Catches on Neighboring Waters—Sport in Nitinat District

Except for the good baskets obtained by those fishermen who spend the week-end trolling on the Saanich Arm, there is nothing special to report respecting the activities of the Victoria rod and line artists who usually are engaged in their favorite sports on the days marking the old week's end and the new week's beginning. The habitues of the Arm were very successful, and, as the necessity for catching the evening trains made the reeling of lines imperative before the downpour that caught so many unawares, they had their fun without any exceptional discomfort. A number of fine spring salmon were landed, and almost all the boats brought back some grilse.

There were parties also at Prospect, at Cowichan Bay, along the Koksilah and at different points on the Cowichan river from Duncans to the headwaters of that water. Few of those properly equipped with gear and knowledge came back empty.

In Nitinat District

An interesting account has been received by the Colonist of a fishing expedition in the Nitinat Lake district. It follows:

"The men who are at present encamped at Clo-oose, working on the construction of the coast trail from Nitinat Lake to Carmanagh, were very sceptical when told of the fine fishing to be obtained in the neighborhood and the extraordinary large catches made, and replied that they had heard of "fishy" stories before. So it was finally arranged that a party should be made up for a day's fishing to Surprise Lake, under the guadance of one of the settlers. Accordingly, Mr. William Logan took a party of four last Sunday by canoe up the Clo-oose river, where the magnificent meadow flats were much admired, and, after rowing four miles, arrived at Cheewhat Lake, across which they rowed another mile and a half, and then landed and followed a trail through the bush for another half-mile, at last finding themselves at Surprise Lake, which is another large body of water nestling in the valley among high mountains on one side.

"It had taken some time to arrive at this famous fishing ground, and so only an hour and a quarter could be spared for fishing, during which time 175 trout were landed, much to the astonishment of the visitors, who declared that henceforth fishing stories would be more respectfully considered by them.

"Surprise Lake received its name years ago from Mr. David Logan, who was at that time prospecting in the district, and was surprised when he accidentally discovered its existence.

"There are a large number of lakes in this locality, of which little is known except to the residents, who have made rough trails to them, and where they enjoy unusually good sport. No doubt the present activity in road and trail construction will bring many fishermen to try these almost undisturbed waters; whilst the scenic beauties along the coast trail from Banfield to Nitinat Lake will attract large numbers of holiday visitors."

BASEBALL NOTES

In the opinion of Jack Atkin part owner of the Sacramento Coast league, outfielder Charles Swain and Catcher Ralph Kreitz are two of the most promising young ball players ever uncovered on the Pacific coast. Both were of the Northwestern league formerly.

Atkin, by the way, is mourning the temporary loss of both these men from his active players. Swain has developed a Charley horse and Kreitz has broken a finger on his throwing hand.

Though few knew it, Manager Wattelet tried hard to have Vancouver stay here to finish last week's series, but "Bob" Brown was firm. The Spokesman-Review remarks: "For once in his career Brown made a move that was probably against his pocket-book in order to break Victoria's home-winning streak."

Clementson is going strong with Red Deer. In a recent game at Calgary, out of five legal times at bat, he got two hits, one of them a three-bagger. He also scored. But then he figures as well in the error column. A little improvement in his fielding and the big fellow will be able to hold his own in the best Pacific coast company.

Manager Dugdale is perspiring freely in the struggle to get his team working smoothly. He wired to Manager Long, of the San Francisco team, the other day, asking if he could purchase Harry McArdle, the Seals' shortstop. Mr. Long replied that he could not.

Mundorff is making good with the Seals. In a game early last week he got a hit of an unusual brand. The ball dug in the gravel just before the plate and before the catcher could lay hands on it the speedy Seal runner was over the first bag.

Bob Brown pronounces Jimmy Clarke the best right hander in the league.

Vancouver is mourning the loss of one of their best pitchers in the person of Mr. Gervais. He wrenched his arm last week, and just how bad the injury it has not been determined at the time of writing. However, he will be out of the game for several days.

Tacoma has released "Doc" Higgins, the good-looking pitcher.

CIVILIAN RIFLE SCORES

The Northwestern Civilian Rifle association is still keeping up the record it established early in the season, and the number of riflemen who turn out every Saturday is very encouraging to the officers. The members have decided that the old adage, "If you want a thing done, do it yourself," will stand a little more use. They have organized a working bee for the 24th, and under the direction of Mr. W. J. Sloan, firing platforms are to be put down at the 900 and 1000 yard ranges, enabling them to get in some practice at the long ranges. The work will commence at 9 a. m. sharp, and all members are requested to turn up with any tools likely to be of any use and do their share.

Saturday's scores over the short ranges are given in detail below. Mr. W. J. Simpson, by beating Mr. A. F. Menzies on the tie, won the silverware:

DETROIT TEAM BACK IN GAME

Players Agree to Fill Schedule Fixtures Rather Than Hurt Their Club Owner — Will Fight for Principle

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 20.—Because they did not want to see Frank Navin, president of the club, suffer for any action on their part, the players of the Detroit American baseball club called off their strike today and agreed to play their regular scheduled game in Washington tomorrow, without the services of Ty Cobb. Thus ends one of the most extraordinary situations that has ever been brought about in organized baseball.

In announcing their decision to return the players said they want it distinctly understood they still will fight for the principle involved and for which they struck.

In returning to the club the players received no concession from Ban Johnson, who had indefinitely suspended Ty Cobb for attacking a spectator in a game in New York last week.

Mr. Navin, however, promised the men that if they returned he will do his utmost to have Cobb reinstated as quickly as possible; and he will do all he can as a club-owner to have the American league give better protection to the players on the field against unsportsmanlike conduct by spectators. Further, he will see that none of the players suffer any financial loss by reason of any fines that may be imposed upon them.

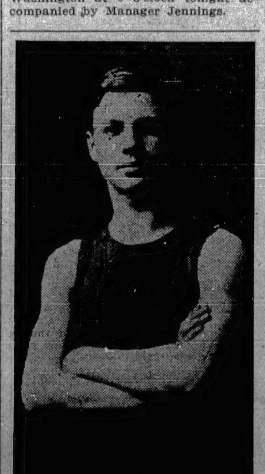

The Punishment

The special meeting of the American league will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m., at which the club owners will decide what punishment, if any, shall be inflicted upon the strikers.

When Mr. Johnson was told that some of the players had intimated that Cobb might be re-instated Wednesday or Thursday, he said they had "another guess." Mr. Johnson would not talk about the action of the men determining to return to the field.

Matters began to develop as soon as Mr. Navin arrived here. He saw Mr. Johnson, had an understanding and then conferred with the players.

Mr. Navin said it was the question of whether the players or the club-owners would run the league. Mr. Navin made a personal appeal to his players. He told them he was the personal sufferer in the affair and he did not feel it was just to him. Cobb told the players he felt that he was responsible for what had occurred and that, while he appreciated the action of his teammates, he felt that for the sake of Mr. Navin who had always treated them well, the players should reconsider their action and return to the club. The Detroit team left for Washington at 8 o'clock tonight accompanied by Manager Jennings.

HORSE RACING NEXT SATURDAY

Two Harness Events Attract All Eligible Entries—Running Contests Will Start With Exceptionally Large Fields

One of the finest single afternoon horse racing cards that Victorians have ever had offered them will take place next Saturday at the Willows track, a number of prominent local sportsmen, desiring to arrange something specially attractive to turfmen in connection with the Victoria Day celebration having prepared a programme that is scarcely described adequately by the term high-class. There are six events, the final being a steeplechase, exclusive of the whippet races, which have been introduced as a side line at the solicitation of Mr. George White, who vows that once these dogs have been seen on the course they will achieve popularity.

The contest upon which is centred the attention of the majority of the harness men is the 2.12 pace, one-half mile heats, 3 in 5, in which there are five entries already with more in prospect. Those received are Messrs. W. A. Millington's Lightout, W. Symon's Zoe W., F. H. Stepheson's Wilda, H. M. Fullerton's Alvis and A. Wright's Ester B. These horses are training hard and it is confidently expected that the race will go the limit before the winner of the purse is settled.

In the 5 furlongs, running, Mr. B. J. Perry has entered his Delmas and Mr. J. McLeave his Killarney, while in the 6 furlongs, running, owners up, there is a large field assured at this comparatively early date. Some of those who have submitted their entries are Messrs. G. W. Green (Jessie), R. P. Clarke (Nigger), W. J. Taylor (Xmas Eve, J. McLeave (Duke), and Lieut. Moore (Sport). In the pony race, which is another running event, the entries to date follow: Indian Maid, T. McEvoy; Tipperary, J. McLeave; Ruby, J. McLeave; Baby Grey, F. Clough; Nellie, J. McLeave; Ballyhooley, J. McLeave; Puita, J. McLeave, J. M., B. & S. stables.

The 3 minute trot, half-mile, 3 in 3, also is going to be well filled and, as in the pacing, there is the keenest kind of rivalry. Those who will face the barrier as far as known at the time of writing are Al. Clement's Benny, R. C. Wilson's North Star Pointer, H. Vye's Dan Patchen and John Albany's Dora McDonald.

Vancouver's Meet

That Vancouver will have a fifty-five day meet, starting early in July, immediately after that now in progress at the Alan track, Spokane, is a statement made by Mr. H. N. Springer, of the Westholme hotel of this city. Mr. Springer is interested in the Minoru park track and says that the racing association has arranged to give at least $2100 per day in purses and each week of the meeting a handicap valued at $500 will be run on Wednesday, and Saturday will see a stake race of $1000 value. Mr. Springer has engaged W. W. Finn as general superintendent of the plant for the meeting, and this fact alone will be the means of attracting many newcomers to the gathering. Mr. Finn has the confidence of all the men who own horses in the game and will be a valued addition to the staff of the track. Robert Leighton will be the official handicapper and secretary of the association, and Judge F. J. Wellman will preside.

Speculation on the races will be by means of pari mutuels, the same system having been in force last year and having proved highly successful. Although bookmaking is allowed under the laws, there will be no bookmakers allowed to hang up their slates, all the betting being done by the machines. There will be double the number of machines used this season that were used last year.

McCALLUM WINS THE BROAD JUMP

High School Athlete First in Opening Event of Interscholastic Competitions

In the broad jump competitions of the inter-scholastic sports, which took place last Friday, the highest honor was taken by E. McCallum, of the High School, who was first in the open event. His mark is 19 feet 5 inches, a very creditable performance. He was one of a large number of well-conditioned athletes representing the different local educational institutions. A Clarke, one of his school fellows, was his most formidable rival, coming second, and but a short distance behind.

The meet proper is fixed to take place on Thursday afternoon, commencing at 1:30 promptly on the Oak Bay grounds. There are so many events included in the programme and such a number of entrants for each that the officials announce that the contests must be started at the hour mentioned. Each school has appointed its squad, the members of which have been in training for weeks under competent coaches, and it is confidently believed that many local and perhaps some general records will be broken. The competition is for the city championship, each win counting so many points to the school whose representative scores it.

Following are the complete results of the broad jump contests:

Under 16 years—C. Kilpatrick, University School, 15 ft. 5 1-2 in.; 2, R. Wagner, University School; 3, W. Ledingham, North Ward Park.

Under 14 years—1, P. McLean, North Ward, 13 ft. 2 in.; 2, B. Whitney, Boys' Central; 3, R. Cummins, North Ward.

Open to school boys of any age—1, W. McCallum, High School, 19 ft. 5 in.; 2, A. Clarke, High School; 3, C. Winch, University School.

APPROVE PLANS FOR METHODIST COLLEGE

Conference Discusses Report on Ryerson Theological Hall, to Be Established in Connection With New University

At yesterday morning's session of the B. C. Methodist conference Rev. E. W. Stapleford, secretary of the board of governors, presented the report of Ryerson Theological college, which is to be erected at Point Grey in connection with the University of British Columbia.

The report was adopted after an interesting discussion had been held upon the financial features of the plan submitted. Mr. Stapleford said that it had been decided as the result of a meeting held by the buildings committee of Westminster Hall and Ryerson College that the Presbyterian and Methodist churches should co-operate in the erection of their college buildings at Point Grey by adopting the same kind of architecture and by building on the plan of one quadrangle.

The plan which most appealed to the committee was based upon one of Burwash hall, which is now being built in connection with Victoria College, Toronto. It was deemed best that for the present each church should undertake to build three units of this plan, including the tower. This would provide for six lecture rooms, which could be used in common, a common library and assembly hall, and also eight single rooms for each denomination, with dining room and kitchen departments fitted up in basements for each separately, the whole complete, except for furnishings and the laying out of the grounds, for the sum of $160,000 for each church. The board of governors reported having adopted the recommendations of the committee, and in their report made the following reference to theological work:

Co-operation of Churches

"The other churches have agreed upon co-operation in educational work in the following particulars:

"1. That we confer with the provincial government regarding the wisdom of having a common heating and lighting plant for all the college buildings comprising the university.

"2. That a representative from each negotiating college be appointed to form a permanent committee on co-operation.

"3. That we approach the government with the request that a theological department of the university library be established and that theological works recommended by the co-operating committee of the theological colleges be installed in the library.

"4. That we believe it possible to co-operate in teaching in certain subjects, for example, missions and comparative religion, religious psychology and pedagogy, the art of speaking and sociology."

Rev. A. M. Sanford, who said that the building of the college meant everything for the ministry of the future, for if they did not have men with a proper spirit and the requisite qualifications of a Christian character how could they expect to develop the general life of the church properly?

Appeals To Laymen

Rev. Prof. A. E. Hetherington, acting principal of Columbian college, foresaw that excellent arrangements might be made between the institution under discussion and that of which he was the head, and thought that the different Methodist organizations of the province needed both in order to co-relate the cause and possibilities of education.

Mr. R. W. Harris, K. C., a prominent Methodist layman of Vancouver, spoke strongly in support of the movement and urged that the ministers should appeal to the laymen from time to time from the pulpits on behalf of the work.

Mr. George Bell, Mr. William Savage, of Vancouver, and Dr. Davidson, spoke on the same subject. Messages of regret at their inability to be present were received from Mr. W. H. Malkin, Vancouver, chairman of the board of governors, ond Mr. J. A. Harvey, K. C.

The adoption of the report enables the secretary to proceed with the financial arrangements as outlined, that is to raise $160,000 for the buildings, $10,000 for furnishings and $30,000 for professors' residences, or $200,000 in all; and $100,000 for the endowment fund, being the ultimate figure sought by the board of governors.

During the morning session the conference heard with regret that Rev. David Jackson, who attended conference last week, had been taken dangerously ill in Vancouver. A vote of sympathy with him was passed by conference and will be forwarded in the form of a letter.

Formal congratulations were also ordered to be despatched to Mrs. White, mother of Rev. Dr. White, superintendent of home missions, who has just completed her 54th year of residence in this province.

Rev. Dr. White spoke on the home mission situation and on the grants to be expected this year from the general board.

Victoria Missions

The stationing committee of new missions reported at the afternoon session through its secretary, Rev. Mr. Hedley. It stated that five new missions had been created in the suburbs of Victoria, at Moss street, Willows, Belmont, Burnside and Oaklands, while others were scattered throughout the conference.

The state of work committee also reported on the general welfare of the church at large, the report being read by Rev. S. J. Thompson, of Nanaimo. He mentioned among other things the question of appointing a conference evangelist, of which suggestion conference expressed its approval, and appointed a committee to look into the matter.

The Sunday school committee reported through Rev. A. M. Sanford, of Kamloops, as follows: "As a committee we find much cause for rejoicing after a close scrutiny of the schedules and reports from each district. There has been a substantial increase in most lines, and yet there is cause for anxious inquiry regarding some. Our membership in the school shows an increase of over 10 per cent. during the year. We regret reporting a decrease in the senior departments, but hope that the cause of this decrease will soon be discovered and removed. We rejoice in the increased interest taken by our teachers, as shown in a desire to be better trained for their duties. Their faithfulness is marked, and we would suggest that all church officials co-operate with the teachers in providing the most modern accommodation for the various departments."

A discussion on the question of the stationing of the ministers was also carried on behind closed doors. At a ministerial session held from 6 to 6:30 p. m. it was recommended that five additional men should be received as candidates for the ministry.

Epworth League Rally

The evening session was devoted to an Epworth League rally. The adoption of the annual report was moved by Rev. W. J. Hardy of Summerland, secretary-treasurer for conference. Rev. J. P. Westman, field secretary for Sunday schools and the Epworth League, gave an interesting address, in the course of which he dealt with various phases of the work, and Mr. W. J. Shortt, of Victoria, also spoke on the same subject.

General sessions will be held both this morning and this afternoon, and this evening at 8 o'clock Rev. Dr. Moore will continue his report on temperance and moral reform work.

BUILDING IS BRISK ALL OVER DOMINION

Victoria's Figures of Permits Granted Treated as Most Striking by Financial Post of Canada

Permits were issued during April in thirty-three Canadian cities for buildings with an approximate value of $20,689,200, which is 44.5 per cent. in advance of the permits granted in the same cities in April, 1911, says the Financial Post of Canada. A comparison of April figures reveals the fact that they are, after eliminating a few cities whose returns have been received erratically, somewhere in the neighborhood of but three million dollars less than the combined returns for January, February and March. By dividing the cities at Port Arthur into eastern and western dvisions, it is found that the east has turned a decrease, shown in March, and a one per cent. gain for the first quarter, into the satisfactory advance of 20.3 per cent. The western section shows a large gain of 62.2 per cent., and this in spite of the fact that in many of the cities it was not expected that the high level of last April would be exceeded.

Toronto, although showing a decrease, has the largest total, the decrease being explained by the number of large buildings included in last April's permits. Eight cities are above the million mark, Toronto and Montreal in the east, Winnipeg, Edmonton Calgary, Vancouver, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw in the west. No decreases are shown in the west, and only two in the east, St. John's and Toronto's declines being 49.6 and 13.1 per cent. respectively.

One noticeable feature this month is the absence of many extremely large percentage increases as well as the lack of any considerable amount of decreases. Only one gain is above 500 per cent., that shown by Medicine Hat being 947 per cent. Permits for three factory blocks, two factories and a hotel are accountable for this large increase. Edmonton ranks next to Medicine Hat with a 455 per cent. advance, and Maisonneuve, Brantford, Chatham and Moose Jaw are next in order, all with gains of over 300 per cent. Port Arthur and Fort William headed the March figures with respective gains of 1,133 and 1,806 per cent. This month, however, the increases are much smaller, 22 and 12 per cent. respectively. Although Winnipeg's increase—3.3 per cent.—is small in proportion to those usually shown, it will be noted that last year's total was exceptionally large.

The largest gain in actual figures is shown by Edmonton, Moose Jaw, whose increase itself is larger than the total of any previous month in its history, comes next. Other large gains are shown by Calgary, Vancouver, Medicine Hat, Prince Albert and Saskatoon, whose gains are all above $250,000.

Reports from the western cities, especially, lay emphasis on the large number of dwellings included in these permits. In Moose Jaw and Vancouver, for example, permits for residences make up 28 per cent. and 25 per cent. of the total valuation of the April permits. In Vancouver, if apartment and rooming houses are included, the amount is 60 per cent. of the total.

Comparing the permits for the four months' period with those of the same period last year, only three cities show a decrease, these being Montreal, Toronto and St. John. The gains vary, of course, but Victoria's, perhaps, is the most striking. The permits issued in that city up to the 30th of April are considerably over three-quarters of the total valuation of permits issued in 1911.

With this large amount of building, added to that which is already under construction, started or soon to be started, not to consider municipal undertakings and railroad extensions, it needs no prophetic vision to see that labor and capital in Canada for some time to come will be employed to their fullest capacity.

SURVIVORS TELL OF SHIPMATES' HEROISM

Crew of Lost Cod-Fishing Schooner Joseph Russ Return to Seattle From Alaska

Survivors of the wrecked cod-fishing schooner Joseph Russ, which struck on Chirikoff island, have returned to Seattle and tell a graphic story of the storm, which resulted in the loss of the schooner and the death of John Jorgensen, the vessel's first mate. Members of the crew of the Russ declared that only for the heroism of A. E. Reeves, second mate and five sailors, who went to Chignik in two open boats for assistance, all would have perished.

In a terrific gale, with heavy seas breaking over her, the Russ was driven ashore at 6 o'clock in the evening. The vessel fortunately was carried shoreward past the mass of jagged rocks and reefs and forced aground on the soft sand. Had she struck the rocky shore, members of the crew say she would have been dashed to pieces and every man aboard would have been lost.

Grounding on the sand, she held her own for several hours, but finally, as the heavy seas continued to pound her, the vessel's hatches gave way and she quickly filled with water. Capt. Foss and thirty-four members of the crew had climbed high in the masts and lashed themselves to the rigging to prevent being carried into the sea by the giant waves.

First Mate Jorgensen was on the forecastle and had started for the main mast, to take refuge in the rigging, when a wave swept him off his feet, hurling him against the side of the vessel. His skull was crushed and he died before his shipmates could go to his assistance.

Capt. Foss and his crew remained on deck until 1 o'clock in the morning, hoping to man the lifeboats, but were finally driven into the rigging to keep from being washed overboard. Here they hung until 6 a. m., when the storm subsided and the receding tide left the Russ high and dry on the sandy shore.

The first act of the crew when they saw that the storm was over, was to care for the body of Jorgensen. A rude coffin of pine boards was constructed and in this the body was carried ashore on the shoulders of the dead sailor's shipmates. Jorgensen was buried far up on the sandy beach and a wooden cross on which is carved his name and that of the vessel on which he lost his life, marks the grave.

After Captain Foss and his crew reached the shores of Chirikof island they built a hut of pine boards and in this they stored the small amount of provisions saved from the schooner and established their sleeping quarters.

It was when the provisions began to run low and they realized that Chirikof island is uninhabited that Second Mate A. E. Reeves and five members of the crew volunteered to put out in two open boats for Chignik, 110 miles distant, for assistance.

They were fortunate enough to arrive at that port before the departure of the steamer Dora, of the Alaska Steamship company, which immediately proceeded to the rescue of the marooned sailors and fishermen.

Kodiak Has Trial

The new steam whaler Kodiak, built at Seattle for the Alaska Whaling company, which operates a station at Akatan, had a steam trial on Sunday and developed fourteen knots. The whaler, 105 feet long, 19.6 feet beam and 11.5 feet deep, will leave in a few days for Alaska to join the Unimak, which has already proceeded north. The floating stations Sommerstadt and Admiralen wil also be used by this company.

Not Many Refugees

The Norwegian steamer Cuzco, which has arrived at San Francisco from Mexico, reports that few refugees are leaving, and the U. S. transport Buford, which was at Manzanillo, was not expected to get more than fifty at all the Mexican ports. The Cuzco brought nitrate north from Chili via Mexican ports.

Follow your Nose

An old proverb says: "Follow your nose, and you will follow your right road".

The aroma of a good whisky is an indication of its quality. Notice the connoisseur, who smells before he tastes.

Corby's "Special Selected" Rye Whisky

possesses an agreeable, delicious aroma that wafts to the senses the extracted goodness of the rich grain from which it is distilled.

Such a fragrance can only be produced in a whisky of the very highest type—thoroughly distilled and carefully matured to give it the necessary smoothness.

Judging by its aroma alone, an expert will unerringly choose Corby's "Special Selected" as THE BEST, from among several other whiskies. Try this experiment yourself. Then taste. The flavor will appeal to your palate, as the aroma appeals to your nose.

NEWEST OF C.P.R. STEAMERS

Princess Sophia, Built at Paisley for Northern Coast Trade, Reached Port Yesterday

FINE FREIGHT AND PASSENGER VESSEL

Surpasses All Others of Her Class—Interesting Account of the Voyage to This Port From Scotland

Capt. A. A. Lindgren (at the right) and Chief Officer Haswell, who brought the Princess Sophia out from the builder's yards at Paisley, Scotland.

The Princess Sophia, latest addition to the big fleet of the B. C. coast steamship service of the C. P. R., a vessel which surpasses any other craft of her class in these waters, reached the C. P. R. wharf from the yards of the builders, Bow, McLachlan & Co., of Paisley, Scotland, yesterday afternoon. Capt. A. A. Lindgren, who brought out the Princess Adelaide and Princess Alice, was in command, and Chief Engineer Allen, formerly of the Princess Mary, was in charge of the engine room.

The Princess Sophia is a freight and passenger steamer, built to Lloyd's highest class on the widely-spaced pillar system, accomplished by heavy girders being used, which affords a big stretch of open freight space in the 'tween decks and hold, and there are very wide truckways, the freight space accommodation being 1500 tons of cargo. The steamer, which was planned by Capt. J. W. Troup, has been built in accordance with his plan, and every comfort is provided for the traveller. There are three decks.

Forward on the upper passenger deck is a finely appointed observation room, finished with maple; the dining room is aft on the deck below, and a spacious saloon, with staterooms handsomely furnished and appointed, at either side. The dining room, which seas 100, is finished in mahogany with maple panels. The smoking room, set by itself in a deckhouse on the upper deck aft, is excellently and comfortably appointed—in fact, the whole vessel shows that nothing has been left undone to provide for the comfort of the traveller, in keeping with the C. P. R. method.

The cargo-handling appliances are complete. Big double winches are placed at the hatches, and there is a boom for 20-ton lifts. The great width is apparent when anyone stands on the forward deck. Arrangement for second-class travellers is to be made on the 'tween decks aft. The engine is a duplicate of that of the Princess Royal, and all the latest auxiliary appliances, condensers, feed pumps, etc., are provided, and three boilers are used. The vessel developed 14 knots an hour on her trial, loaded. She is to be equipped at once to burn oil. The dimensions are: Length, 245 feet; beam, 44 feet; depth, 18 feet.

The Princess Sophia had a narrow escape from great delay when at Montevideo. Immediately after the vessel had completed coaling there, the Uruguayan government issued an order confiscating all the available coal in consequence of the coal strike in England, the officials stating that all the supply would be kept for the government vessels. The Princess Sophia had just finished coaling when the order was issued.

Mr. M. Neary, the wireless telegraph operator of the new steamer, furnished an interesting account of the voyage out, as follows:

Stormy in Bay

"On February 19 the Princess Sophia, having passed the numerous trials and tests incidental to a new ship, drew out of the James Watt Dock at Greenock, Scotland, on her long voyage to Victoria, a distance of 14,500 miles. The weather was fine until the Bay of Biscay was entered. Then the real test of a ship's ability—strong winds and heavy seas—showed that everything was in first-class order, and it was evident that the Sophia would vie with some of the most popular ships in the B. C. coastal service.

"St. Vincent, the first port of call, was reached on March 3. This island owes its existence to its convenience as a coaling port. It is very barren, and even depends upon an adjoining island for its water supply. The flat-topped houses, painted every possible color, give the place a very unreal appearance. A stay of two days was quite enough to satisfy the most ardent sightseer, and on March 5 a move was made for the next port—Montevideo. On the way south the equator was crossed on March 10, and thousands of flying fish were noticed in these regions. About 26 miles south of the line, Fernando Naronha was passed at a distance of three miles. This small island was at one time a famous pirate stronghold, and many grim stories are told of the atrocities perpetrated there. In later times it was used as a Brazilian convict settlement.

An Amusing Incident

"An amusing incident is related of the efforts of a certain South American navy to find Fernando Naronha. Its place was known on the chart, but the navigators of this navy could not find the island, and returned with the report that it had been destroyed by an earthquake. The statement was not believed, another party of ships was sent out to find it, but owing to a heavy fog and bad navigation, could not find its way back to the home port, so the first section of the navy was again sent out—this time to find the lost section.

Call at Montevideo

"Montevideo was reached on March 22. This is a splendid city, but things are very expensive. A very heavy storm came on while the Sophia was safe in harbor, and several ships laying outside the breakwater were badly damaged. Some very good fishing, principally grey mullet, helped to pass the time until March 31, when the run to the Straits of Magellan commenced. Cape Virgins, the entrance, was passed on April 6.

In Magellan Strait

The wind was blowing with terrific force, and everyone was glad when the anchor was dropped in Punta Arenas on April 6. The whole of the land around the Straits, wherever possible, is devoted to sheep farming. Punta Arenas, though quite a thriving place, is not in the least interesting. Leaving on April 8, the scenery became magnificent, but very bleak and wild. Immense glaciers on both sides of the channel, which in some places is but two miles wide, were seen. On April 9 the wind rose to hurricane force, and it was decided to anchor in Fortescue Bay.

"There is a small Indian (Patagonian) settlement ashore, and the Indians come out in canoes begging from every ship anchoring there. Whisky and tobacco is their chief need, but they take whatever they can get, and were quite satisfied with the boatload of stuff they got from the Princess Sophia, although it did not contain any whisky. By no stretch of imagination can they be called good-looking. As a matter of fact, they are most repulsive looking, and very dirty. A very interesting visitor was a German mining engineer. He remarked that gold is found in nearly every river in Patagonia, but in most cases does not pay for extraction. His man, an Austrian, having been in Patagonia 20 years, had some strange stories to tell of the Indians.

A Gruesome Practise

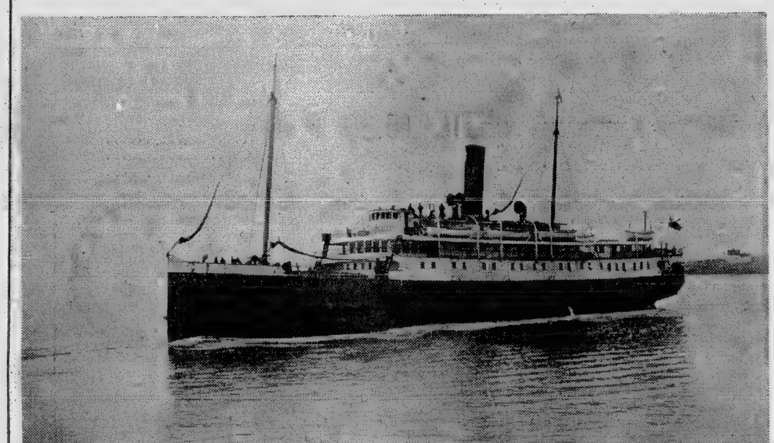

"Some twelve years ago the sheep farmers were greatly bothered by the sheep-stealing Indians, and formed themselves into a protective association, engaging a man to shoot these Indians on sight. He was paid $5 for each man shot, and, as a proof of their death, brought in the tip of the nose to the farmers' association, receiving his $5 for each tip. Another method was to poison several sheep with strychnine and leave the bodies near the Indian encampment. The natives, finding the bodies, used to eat them, with fatal results. In many parts of Patagonia even today it is unsafe to land unless well armed and in parties, as many of the tribes are cannibals.

Into the Pacific

One more anchorage in the Straits, then the ship's bow was turned north for the long run up the coast. The next land sighted was the island immortalized in "Robinson Crusoe"—Juan Fernandez. This was passed on April 19. Nothing more of any interest transpired until land was again sighted, on May 8. This was Cape San Lucas, in Southern California. Arriving in San Diego on May 12, two very pleasant days were spent there.

Leaving San Diego on May 14, every individual on board commenced "getting busy" to have everything in order on reaching Victoria, and when the Princess Sophia docked she was in splendid condition after her long run of 14,500 miles."

The officers who brought out the new steamer were: Capt. A. A. Lindgren, Chief Officer J. Haswell, formerly of the Lake Champlain; Second Officer R. Angus, formerly of the Empress of Ireland; Third Officer Moran, formerly of the ship Roman Empire; Chief Engineer Allen, who was sent from the Princess Mary to bring out the vessel; Second Engineer Tracey, formerly of the Princess Charlotte; Wireless Operator M. Neary.

THE PRINCESS SOPHIA—LATEST ADDITION TO C. P. R. FLEET

This steamer, which has been purchased for the northern run, arrived in port yesterday from Greenock, Scotland. She met with much stormy weather since she left the Clyde on February 19.

Engineers Suspended

The United States inspectors have suspended the license of Second Engineer R. M. Bunten, of the steamer Alameda, for 60 days, and Third Engineer Van Winter for 30 days, after finding them guilty of negligence in disobeying signals from the bridge as a result of which the Alameda cut through the G. T. P. wharf and sank the steamer Telegraph. Both Bunten and Van Winter admitted that the signal "full speed astern" was given by the pilot and answered on the dial of the telegraph as called for, but that instead of working the engines full speed astern by some unknown and unfathomable cause the engines were worked full speed ahead.

PRINCE JOHN STRIKES BAR

Engine Room Filled and all Pumps at Work—Vessel Will Be Brought to Esquimalt for Repairs

The steamer Prince John, of the G. T. P. line, struck heavily when entering Old Massett harbor on Sunday and her engine room is full of water. The steamer began to leak badly soon after the impact, and a message received by Capt. C. H. Nicholson yesterday stated that all the pumps were working and seemed to be gaining on the water. It is anticipated that the vessel will be beached and temporary repairs effected to allow of the vessel proceeding to Esquimalt to be hauled out for repairs.

The steamer Prince Albert, which reached Union Bay from the north yesterday morning, will be sent north to take the place of the damaged steamer on the run from Prince Rupert to the ports of Queen Charlotte islands.

Massett harbor, where the Prince John grounded, has a ledge of recks covered with kelp near the entrance, extending out half a mile on the western side, and on the eastern side is a long spit, partly dry, with surf usually breaking over the whole of it. There is an extensive bar in the passage between these dangers upon which there is usually a depth of three fathoms. Just inside and round the eastern point of the entrance is a bay with a beach on which the Indian village, with its array of picturesque totems, is located, and there is anchorage in ten fathoms in this bay.

SALMON NETTERS TO WORK IN STRAITS

Seattle Papers Reviews the Prospects for the Salmon Season in Nearby Waters

Following the announcement that two salmon canneries will be operated this season on the Washington side of the straits in the vicinity of Neah bay, word comes from British Columbia that cannerymen on that side of the line have decided to establish plants on the south shore of Vancouver island and compete with the American fishermen on equal terms, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Advices from Vancouver, B. C., received by packers in Seattle, are to the effect that two canneries will be operated by foreign capital on the Vancouver shore this season.

Heretofore British Columbia cannerymen have waited for the fish coming in the straits to pass the American seiners or traps and work their way into British Columbia waters. The charge has been made by the packers on the other side of the boundary line that the Washington canners have had the first chance at the fish and that they have been forced to take what fish was left, while cannerymen operating on Puget Sound who have studied the habits of salmon, say that the fish which run up the Fraser and other British Columbia rivers do not pass in through the Strait of Juan de Fuca at all, but in from the north. British Columbia packers are taking no chances and are getting ready to take a first crack at the strait's salmon. The Wallace Fisheries, Ltd., of Vancouver, plans extensive operations in the strait.

On the Washington side, Gorman and Company will operate a new cannery at Neah bay, under the name of the Neah Bay Packing company, and B. A. Seaborg and company plan to operate a floating cannery at the same point.

The Columbia river season is now well advanced. Columbia river packers claim that they have contracted for all the fish they expect to pack, subject to approval of opening prices.

The old plant of the Grays Harbor Packing company, at Aberdeen, which has not been in operation for four or five years, will be in commission this season. It will be operated by the Elmore Packing company.

Steamer Prince George Returned on Sunday and Sailed Again Yesterday Morning for the North

The steamer Prince George, Capt. D. McKenzie, returned from Prince Rupert on Sunday and left again for the G. T. P. port yesterday morning. News was brought by the Prince liner that high water in the Skeena river is interfering with navigation by the sternwhele steamers, and cargo for Hazelton cannot be handled until the water drops to normal level. The river is falling, and it is expected traffic will be soon resumed. The passengers from the north included Mr. W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, who has been on a tour of the northern valleys and Queen Charlotte Island.

Among the passengers taken north when the steamer left the G. T. P. wharf yesterday morning were Dr. Slocum, of Seattle, who took a moving picture camera to the new Pacific port. Other travellers were: Messrs. T. A. Landry, H. P. Rutter, Archie Fraser, H. Jackson, C. L. Haworth, R. Beddie, R. R. Thomson, Dr. T. G. Harper, H. C. Black, James Cruikshanks, Dr. and Mrs. Cruickshanks, Miss Cruickshanks, Rev. C. M. Tate and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Long.

SIXTY THROWN INTO HARBOR

Landing Stage Broke When "Flyer" Passengers Were Being Embarked at Seattle, With Disastrous Results

SEATTLE, May 20.—As a result of the collapse of a landing stage at Seattle on Sunday, when the passengers were being embarked on the steamer Flyer on its arrival from Tacoma, sixty people were precipitated into the harbor, of whom two were drowned and the majority were injured. Mr. E. O. S. Scholefield, provincial librarian, was among the passengers of the Flyer, and had gone on board when the plank fell.

The dead are: Mrs. Florence E. Learned, wife of the president of the Learned Lumber Co., Seattle, and Carl Bruder, one year old, Seattle.

Screaming, struggling and fighting for life, three score men, women and children were suddenly precipitated, sliding from the slanting planks to the water.

An awful struggle for life occurred as the crowd was pitched into the harbor, vainly clutching at the slippery planking. Fully ten minutes elapsed before the last of the victims was rescued by men in boats, launches and other craft, and with ropes, life preservers and planks thrown to them.

News of the accident spread through Seattle like wildfire. The sharp danger signal blasts of the Flyer brought people to the scene from along the waterfront on the run. Calls for ambulances and physicians were sent out, and in a few minutes Railroad avenue in front of the Colman dock was crowded with motor cars and ambulances. As fast as the victims were fished out of the water they were carried to the ambulances and motor cars and rushed to the city hospital, the Seattle General and Pacific hospitals. In a few minutes every vacant cot in the city hospital was occupied, and the corridors were thronged by weeping and distracted relatives.

More than half the passengers destined for Tacoma had crowded through the slip onto the Flyer when the loading device gave way. The wails and shrieks that went up were heart-rending, and for a few moments the people remaining on the dock seemed paralyzed by the sight of the struggling mass of humanity in the water between the bow of the boat and the greasy pilings of the dock.

Capt. E. B. Coffin, of the Flyer, instantly gave the danger signal and ordered all hands to throw overboard available on deck. Life preservers, planks, the deck gates and gangways were tossed overboard to the drowning passengers, while a lifeboat was lowered.

Rosalie Drops Lifeboat

The steamer Rosalie also dropped a lifeboat, and the fire tug Snoqualmie slipped her moorings and came to the rescue. Roy Lillico, with his narrow launch Skeeter, slipped in between the Flyer, which had backed slightly away from the dock, and did yeoman service in pulling out the drowning and struggling men and women and children. Many were in the last stages of exhaustion, both from their frightful struggles and from having swallowed quantities of the polluted salt water off the docks. Newton Johns, a bootblack, saved six women.

The accident was caused by the springing apart of a worm gearing working in a cog wheel which winds up the chains that raise and lower the big slip. When the worm sprung back a little the gear slipped from the teeth of the cog wheel, which revolved swiftly, almost stripping the teeth, allowing the chains to fall back and the big slip to drop its end nearest the boat into the water. The gang plank stretched from the end of the slip onto the boat deck tilted back, and only those fortunate enough to have stepped on to the steamer deck escaped.

Slip Was Filled

The slip is perhaps forty feet in length by eight feet wide, and was well filled with the last of the throng pushing aboard the Flyer. Scarcely a person on the slip escaped going into the water, those on top pushing the less fortunate beneath them deep into the bay.

This was the case with Mrs. Florence E. Learned, wife of G. V. Learned, of the Learned Lumber company. With her son, Jack Learned, three years old, she was taken out in a dying condition. The little lad was saved after a desperate fight at the hospital, but the mother was too far gone.

Mr. Learned also narrowly escaped with his life after fighting desperately to save his wife and boy, and is now completely prostrated at his home. The little Bruder boy was separated from his parents in the struggle, and was dead when taken from the water. His mother is also in a serious condition.

Many Volunteer Workers

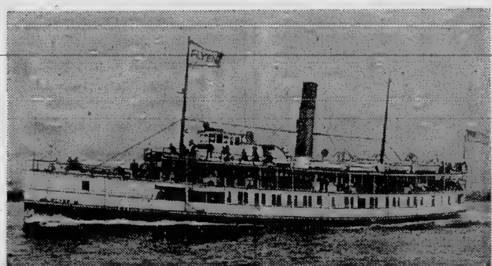

As rapidly as the victims were pulled out of the water they were lifted either aboard the Flyer or the Colman dock and laid out, while ready hands went to work on them to press the water from their lungs.

The main saloon of the Flyer was almost filled with the victims, who were stripped of their clothing, rolled about and then wrapped in blankets. The arrival of ambulances with cots enabled the rescuers to carry the sufferers from the boat and dock to the vehicles, whence they were rushed to the hospitals. As ambulance after ambulance clanged away from the dock entrance with its suffering load, the crowds became almost frantic, and the police had hard work to keep them from rushing on the dock.

Chief of Police Bannick ordered out the reserves. Before the police could check the first crowds, hundreds pushed their way to the inside balcony of the Colman dock, crowding the railing to look down on the rescue work. Another accident was threatened from the overcrowding of the balcony, but the police finally drove the merely curious back from the railing.

Besieged by Anxious Friends

Pitiful scenes were witnessed at the city hospital, where the large majority of the suffers were taken. The first ones had scarcely been carried in when the telephones began to ring incessantly with the queries of anxious friends and relatives. Soon the crowds began to arrive searching for missing members of families.

SEATTLE-TACOMA FAST STEAMER "FLYER"

While a crowd of excursionists were embarking on this boat at Seattle on Sunday morning the gangway collapsed and a number of people were precipitated into the water. Two of these were taken out dead and many were injured.

PIONEER MASTER DEAD AT SEATTLE

Capt. James Carroll, for Many Years in Alaskan Excursion Trade, Enters Last Port

Capt. James Carroll, a pioneer navigator in northern waters, who for many years was in the employ of the Pacific Coast Steamship company as master of the Queen, Spokane and other northern steamers, died at Seattle on Sunday. He came to the Pacific coast in 1867, entering the employ of the Pacific Mail Steamship company at San Francisco. From 1867 to 1868 he was in command of the Colorado on the run to China. Subsequently he had command of various ships of that company, running to Panama, among them the Montana, Constitution and Sacramento.

Leaving the Pacific Mail Steamship company, he became interested with Ben Holiday, at that time one of the best known shipping men on the Coast, in the old steamer California, and in command of this craft he made his first trip to Alaska in the early '80s, the first master to take a steamer into those waters. At that time Sitka and Wrangell were about the only settlements in Alaska, and the only ports at which the steamer called.

Some years after Capt. Carroll became master of the California Ben Holiday sold out to Goodall, Perkins & Co., this firm's holdings later becoming absorbed by the Pacific Coast Steamship company. After acting as master of several steamers of this company's fleet, Capt. Carroll became master of the Queen, and was in command of that steamship ten years.

Capt. Carroll was born in Ireland in 1840. His marine experience commenced on the Great Lakes, he sailing out of Chicago from 1857 to 1860. He then went to New York and started for China on the bark Hawkwa, built for a Chinese man-of-war, and on arrival on the China coast ran there in the coasting trade for a year. He arrived at San Francisco in 1862 on the old clipper Swordfish. From the Bay City he went to the Sandwich islands, and afterwards returned to Cork in the ship Anglo-Saxon, going thence to Liverpool and Boston, from where he sailed for two years in the Trowbridge line to the West Indies.

In the latter part of 1865 he shipped from New York as second mate of the Rattler bound to San Francisco. On arrival he began running north in the Montana, and left to make a voyage to China in the bark Swallow carrying Anson Burlingame to complete his treaty with China. Returning he entered the employ of the Pacific Mail line, and in 1869 was given his first command, as master of the Montana. He remained in the Halliday steamers until 1878, when he took command of the opposition steamer Great Republic. After her wreck on Sand island, at the mouth of the Columbia, Capt. Carroll served as master of the steamer Alexander Duncan for a short time, and from her went to the Idaho, Eureka, Mexico and various other steamers on the Alaska route. He carried thousands of passengers to Alaska in that employ and that of the Pacific Coast Steamship company.

In 1897 he quit the sea to engage in business in Seattle, returning eight years later at the request of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, to take command of the steamship Spokane, which he brought to Seattle from San Francisco, and which steamer he commanded on her first run to Alaska.

Capt. Carroll had large holdings in Alaska, and made a proposition to purchase Alaska many years ago, offering $14,000,000 on behalf of a syndicate.

The Tabernacle and Its Many Workmen

What a variety of handicrafts were employed in the construction and equipment of this mysterious building. This remarkable people, the Israelites, were shepherds originally, but in Egypt made brick, notwithstanding this, great skill was exhibited by this people in the manufacture and construction of the various parts within and without the Tabernacle. Woodmen, goldsmiths and silversmiths were required. Yet all that was done from first to last in connection with the same was done by the hand of Israel only, a redeemed people. Mr. McClure will show the force of this lesson from the scriptures tonight and Wednesday; its direct application to the people of God in the church today. Most interesting truths will be brought out. Don't fail to attend. Victoria Hall, Blanchard street.

AMUSEMENTS

"Bunty Pulls the Strings"—On May 24 and 25 the Victoria theatre will have as an attraction the dramatic sensation of two continents in the Highland comedy "Bunty Pulls the Strings." The play is by Graham Moffat, a Scottish writer and actor, and has been in London, Eng., New York and Chicago for some time. Messrs. Shubert and William A. Brady are the American producers. The title arises from the fact that Bunty solves all domestic entanglements that arise during the course of the comedy; in other words, she "pulls the strings." Bunty is the daughter of a Scottish village grocer, about 1850. Bunty's father, Tammas Biggar, is being induced to marry one Susie Simpson, who, years before, gave him some money to invest for her, but he used it to pay off his son's debts instead. At the same time there appears Helen Dunlop, to whom Tammas was engaged to be married. Bunty, who has a love affair of her own, now steps in and straightens out the complications. The entire action takes place in two days, one of which is a doleful Scottish Sabbath. Miss Dawsey McNaughton will play the party of Bunty, and Miss Jean Burnett will play the vinegar-faced old spinster, Susie Simpson. Homan A. Blume, Ethelburt Hales, William Lennox, Mabel Stanton, Francis Agnew, R. C. Thomas, Clara Coleman and Seth Smith will be in the supporting cast.

Wild West Show—The 101 Ranch Wild West shows, which will be here on May 31 and June 1, while of colossal magnitude, have not attained this magnitude at the sacrifice of merit. It is not an aggregation that features any particular display and then surrounds this display with a lot of inferior and cheap acts. With any other similar exhibition any act that is offered by the 101 Ranch would be a feature. With the 101 Ranch every act is a feature act and acts that no other tented entertainment would be able to furnish. An idea of the magnitude may be had when it is stated that three trains of double length cars are required to transport the shows from town to town. There are in the neighborhood of 1000 people on the pay roll, and the stable has in it 500 head of western horses. This includes the draft horses and those taking part in the arena display. The capacity for seating is so arranged that 10,000 people can be accommodated and every seat is provided with comfortable back and foot rests, so arranged as to give a full view of the arena at all times. Over two hundred canvas men, train hands, grooms, property men and chandelier men are required to put up and take down the show. The dining tents can seat 1200 people, and a corps of cooks and waiters equal to those employed by the largest hotel are necessary to care for the diners. They operate their own light plant, and it is one of such perfection and proportions that the grounds at night are as light as day. The Indian village consists of two hundred lodges, and there are nearly five hundred of all tribes in the Indian contingent. The cowboys, cowgirls, cattlemen, ranchmen, riders and expert rifle men and women are all products of the famous 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma, from which the shows derive their name and which is owned by the same enterprising men as is the exhibition. One of the commendable features with this aggregation is the care that is taken of the patrons. Two ticket wagons are on the lot and a ticket office established downtown on the day of exhibition.

Empress Theatre—The fine bills provided for the Empress theatre have had their effect on the attendance, and doubtless this week will show the high-water mark, for a good programme is offered. Edwina Barry and a clever company of performers who are seen in Jimmy Barry's laughable farce-comedy, entitled "The Home-Breaker," head the bill. "The Home-Breaker" has for its theme the exploits of a servant in the house with a propensity for accumulating kisses from all therein, and many laughable situations result. It is a most enjoyable little playlet, and there is laughter galore while it is being presented. Tom Mahoney, a star of monologists, a comedian who stands over six feet in height, and whose comedy is rich indeed, supplies a good number. He has some droll characterizations, and sings and dances well. Mahoney is a comedian who ranks high among vaudeville performers. Ted E. Box, who is no stranger to vaudeville-goers in Victoria, although five years have elapsed since his last appearance here, shows that he is not a whit the less funny than before. This eccentric English comedian, whose name is a household word in the halls of the old country, does some clever work. He sings comic songs and dances in a manner which is inimitable. Larena, the dancer, another artist brought from the old land, who was most popular there, supplies a dancing act, in which she illustrates the poetry of motion to good effect. Alfonso Silvano, a recruit from France, an equilibrist and hand-balancer, who does some daring and difficult feats when balanced on a high setting fifteen feet above the stage, provokes great applause for his clever work. His act is excellently set and staged. The motion pictures shown by the Empresscope are good.

Crystal Theatre—"Fagg and White" in their "Bit of Afreanology" are getting the crowds this week and will continue to do so judging from their act which is a scream. Miss White makes the quickest change from white to mulatto in vaudeville. The Beardsley Sisters are known all over the coast as the Dainty Duettists and come well recommended. We do not hesitate in recommending these two acts to our patrons as being high class as well as high priced acts. The pictures are up to the usual standard. "Pathe's Weekly" is always good as it portrays happenings from all over the world. "A Boomerang Joke" is a Pathe comedy that is a dandy. "A Visit to the Milan Cathedral" is a beautiful scenic. "In the Hot Lands," where ice is more precious than gold, is an excellent drama by the Melies company. "He Who Laughs Last" is a Vitagraph comedy. This is a scream. We had a good programme all last week as was attested to by every one who saw it, but this bill for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is still better. At every show yesterday it was almost impossible for the acts to get off on account of the numerous curtain calls. Our word has always proven good when we say we have a good show you may rely on it that it is good. There will be a complete change on Thursday of both people and acts, so see this show today and come again Thursday and see that one. Pictures change Wednesday. Also on Wednesday the amateurs will be seen as usual. There are several new faces this time and you will see the best show for ten cents you ever saw in your life for three times that amount. Pictures from 1.30 to 5.30 and from 6.30 to 11.00. Vaudeville from 3 to 4, and from 7 to 11. Come early or attend the matinee and be assured of good seats.

FOOTNOTE CONTROVERSY

MINNEAPOLIS, May 20.—By a vote of 446 to 305 delegates to the conference of the Methodist Episcopal church late on Saturday, voted not to accept the minority report of the committee on the state of the church, which provided for the striking out of that paragraph of the discipline which prohibits dancing and kindred amusements. The majority report, which favored the retention of the paragraph, was then adopted.

Each age of our lives has its joys. Old people should be happy, and they will be if Chamberlain's Tablets are taken to strengthen the digestion and keep the bowels regular. These Tablets are mild and gentle in their action and especially suitable for people of middle age and older. For sale by all dealers.

The Mutual Life of Canada Leads All Companies

Endowment insurance combines investment with protection. It not only guarantees the payment of the policy to your heirs in the event of your death, but it also guarantees the payment of the policy to yourself in your own lifetime at the end of a fixed period, whether 15 or 20 years, together with the accumulated profits, and is sought by the best class of insurers.

The Mutual Life of Canada, as shown by the Dominion government insurance reports, had on its books at the close of last year, the largest amount of endowment insurance of any company doing business in Canada, and its leading position in this respect denotes increasing confidence in the company by the shrewdest and most thrifty investors. The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

(From the Clubwoman.)

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercolized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticula. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples; moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite 1 oz., dissolved in half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.

HAPPY VALLEY LANDS

We have remaining a number of acres of very desirable land in the fertile, scenic section to the westward of Victoria, in Esquimalt and Metchosin districts. The soil is varied, offering excellent opportunities to the fruit rancher, the truck gardener and the poultryman. No prettier location could be selected for a summer home. No better investment could be found because this district is marked for immediate development. The Canadian Northern railroad runs right through the holdings and the E. & N. railroad passes to the northward. This property will double in price in the near future. Much of it has already been sold at the same prices we are now asking for the remainder and these prices cannot be beaten for similar property anywhere on the Island where situation is equal. In order to complete the sale of the subdivided holdings, we have decided to

Give Away $2,000 To Customers

In one prize of $1,000, one prize of $500, one of $200, two of $100 and two of $50 each. Beginning tomorrow, every purchaser of these lands will be given a sealed and marked envelope for every $100 he spends. Each envelope will contain a coupon. Upon completion of the sale of the property totalling $40,000, these envelopes will be opened in the presence of the holders by a well known man, and those who hold prize coupons will receive cheques for the amounts, on the spot.

RYGJA ARRIVES FROM FAR EAST

Norwegian Freighter Damaged on Outward Trip—Brought News of Heavy Loss of Life in Mine Disaster

The Norwegian steamer Rygja, Capt. Myar, reached the outer wharf on Sunday after a passage of nineteen days from Yokohama, which was ten days less than the freighter occupied to make the outward voyage to Kobe. A succession of gales prevailed on the outward trip, during which considerable damage was sustained, the steam-steering gear being broken and some minor damage sustained about the deck. It was necessary to dock the vessel in the Kowloon docks on arrival at Hongkong owing to the buffetting she received.

The Rygja discharged about 350 tons of general freight at the outer wharf. Capt. Myar lost a fox terrier dog when his steamer was at the outer wharf, one of a couple he was bringing from Hongkong for Capt. Tiffen, of Vancouver, Wash.

News was brought by the Rygja of a great mining disaster in North Japan, which resulted in the loss of 276 lives. A gas explosion took place in the Yubari mine of the Hokkaido steamship and colliery company and 276 were entombed. The ventilators were destroyed in the blast and none were rescued. Thousands soon gathered around the pit mouth and heartrending scenes occurred as the bodies were recovered. Fire followed the explosion, and a portion of the mine was sealed and the entombed victims left to burn.

EDITH'S ROUGH TRIP

Returns to Seattle with Two Propeller Blades Gone as Result of Struggle With Storm

The steamer Edith has returned to Seattle after a tempestuous voyage from Unalaska, during which she encountered a heavy gale when 700 miles from Cape Flattery. The Edith came into port with two of her propeller blades gone as the result of a forty-hour battle with a ninety-mile gale.

The vessel was returning to Seattle with no cargo. She had delivered 2000 tons of coal and thirty head of cattle for the Alaska Commercial company at Unalaska. On the night of May 9 the Edith steamed into a terrific southeasterly gale, and as she was light and was riding high in the water she was tossed like a chip in the heavy seas.

The following day, during the height of the storm, the vessel lost two of her propeller blades, which cut her speed down to six miles an hour and made it almost impossible to buck the heavy gale.

Capt. Obert decided to abandon his course for Cape Flattery and make for the head of Chatham Strait. He was four days in reaching the inside passage to Alaska, and put in at Ketchikan last Tuesday night.

The Edith was caught in the same storm which the tug Pioneer and the barge Haydn Brown encountered in Prince William Sound, and which resulted in the barge being cut adrift and lost with her crew of eight men.

Capt. Obert reported that the United States revenue cutter McCulloch was at Unalaska coaling on April 29, and left the same day for Unimak Pass to aid two cannery ships which had been caught in the storm and had been unable to reach Bering Sea.

A Motor Duster will protect your clothes from the dust. We have a splendid assortment properly made, $2.25, $2.75, $3 and upward. J. N. Harvey, Ltd., 614 Yates st.

SANUKI MARU WILL SAIL TODAY

Japanese Liner will Leave Outer Wharf —Awa Maru Expected to Arrive Tomorrow

The Japanese steamer Sanuki Maru, which is making her last call here, being replaced on her return by the new steamer Yokohama Maru, will leave the outer wharf this afternoon for Yokohama, Kobe, Moji, Shanghai and Honkkong. The Japanese steamer has twenty cabin passengers booked. Among them are Captain and Mrs. Verner of Victoria, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Getty, of Los Angeles; I. Yamamoto, of New York City; K. Simini, of London; K. Saito, of Seattle; James Kerr, W. B. Anderson and S. Culin. The Sanuki Maru will carry 6000 tons of tobacco, flour, agricultural implements and other freight.

The R.M.S. Empress of India, Capt. Beetham, is scheduled to leave the outer wharf tomorrow evening en route to Hongkong and way ports with a good complement of passengers and about 2200 tons of general cargo. The Awa Maru, Capt. Soyeda, of the Nippon Yusen kaisha line, reports from sea by wireless that she will reach the outer wharf tomorrow from the Orient. The Japanese steamer has about 450 tons of general merchandise for discharge here.

The Makura of the Canadian-Australian line, from Sydney, Auckland and Suva, will leave Honolulu today en route here and is expected to reach the outer wharf next Tuesday. The steamer is bringing over 200 passengers and about 1400 tons of general freight.

So You Admit That an Elevator is All Right for the "Other Man"?

Why not for you?
If an elevator lessens overhead cost for him, why not for you?
If an elevator increases the efficiency of his employees, why not yours?

If an elevator saves time and money in his business, why not in your business?
If an elevator prevents accidents and delays for him, it will unquestionably perform the same service for you.
His shipping problems are your shipping problems. What applies in his case has an equal application in yours.

OTIS FENSOM FREIGHT ELEVATORS

In your warehouse or factory will eliminate the unproductive labor required to handle either raw material or the finished product. They will help you to fill orders quickly, and to make shipments promptly.

Stock handling is done accurately, systematically, scientifically economically, because there is no "lost motion." And the cost is soon paid by the time and money saved.

However small your warehouse, your factory or your store—however apt your ability to "worry along" in your present circumstances, the practical, economical and scientific results that follow the installation of a freight elevator, constitute an investment that you will always consider good business.

For use where power is not available, we make a Hand Power Elevator equipped with our improved steel roller bearings. Thoroughly substantial and durable.

GORDON Head—I am instructed to sell what appeals to me as the most attractive home site in this beautiful district, viz., that piece of land at the intersection of Cedar Hill and Gordon Head roads, giving immense road frontage and containing fully 11¼ acres, part in orchard and small fruits; the situation commands a grand view of valley and sea; the grounds, apart from the orchard are interspersed with fine old oak trees, and in one corner is a pretty pine grove; in another nook you will find a spring of water (ice cold), which the driest summer never affects; there is just enough rock to lend an air of seclusion to the grounds, where, on walking about, you discover all sorts of nooks with various ferns and wild flowers; the beautiful broom clumps shelter flocks of quail, while the pine trees afford a roosting place for the many pheasants of the district; taken as a whole it's the most attractive home site and a gilt edge investment; the present owner has held this property for over 20 years; distance from city hall, 3 1-2 miles; there is a small cottage and outbuildings, but they are of little value; price $14,100, terms arranged. For sale exclusively by Robert Russell, 229 Pemberton bldg. Note—Will be pleased to sell through any member of Victoria Real Estate Exchange.

RUBBER RISES FOUR POINTS

Shares of Supposed "Pool" Origin Show Activity—Increasingly Heavy Undertone Leads to Dull Closing

NEW YORK, May 20.—A recrudescence of activity at higher prices in United States Rubber, International Harvester, Colorado Fuel, American Car and Foundry, American Ice, and other shares of supposed "pool" origin was a feature of the stock market today. Rubber rose 4 points, Lehigh Valley rose in the early part of the day 2 points but by noon had yielded much of its rise. While Reading this forenoon was selling under last week's close. Copper shares derived little benefit from a further rise in the metal. Standard shares were under restraint. Selling pressure was obvious in U. S. Steel, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, the latter being again offered by foreign interests.

Business fell away much as upon early heavy undertone. Wabash issues manifested a reactionary tendency.

The closing was dull and heavy. A note of moderate optimism was sounded by the traffic officials of western roads, who were unanimous in their statements of increasing activity in their lines as the autumn

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $2,345,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

An Extra Pair of Trousers for Your Boy at 75c

Surely the price should be an inducement. The trouble with most boys is the fact that he forgets to respect his clothing when there is some fun in the wind, and usually his trousers suffer.

However, it's a comfort to know that you can replace the garments at such a small cost and get something that will last just as long as good materials and strong tailoring can make them.

They are made of strong serges and tweeds and come in a variety of shades and patterns. Cut in the plain knicker style. Price, per pair, 75c.

White Muslin Dresses Are Being Shown in the View Street Windows

AND THE PRICES RANGE FROM $5.00 TO $50.00

"A THING of beauty is a joy forever."

The words of the poet can well be applied to any of the dresses that are to be seen in this department, with the exception that we cannot guarantee the garments to last forever. However, the pleasure you'll experience will last as long as the memory of the dress remains, and surely this will be an ample return for your investment.

There's a tremendous range of styles to choose from, and as there are so very few that are alike, words are totally inadequate to describe them, and do the garments justice. Some are made of charming all-over embroidery, finished with fine laces and lace insertions, while others have daintily embroidered panels outlined with beautiful insertions and laces. Many of them are high-waisted effects, and all have set-in sleeves.

There's no chance of you being disappointed—there's a style, a size and a price here that will please you.

REMEMBER THAT THE PRICES START AS LOW AS $5.00, SO THERE IS NO REASON WHY YOU SHOULD N'T HAVE ONE

How Would You Like a Linen or Pique Skirt?

PERHAPS you haven't considered the matter before, still you'll readily admit that they are as serviceable and as attractive as anything that you can have for summer wear. We have them in both the plain tailored and fancily trimmed styles, some handsomely finished with embroideries and insertion, while the materials include white and natural linens, white pique, and cotton corduroy in white. All sizes are represented and our prices start as low as $1.75 a garment and range up to $5.75.

In many cases the expense is small and one glance at the samples in the View street windows will convince the most exacting shopper that there is more than full value for her money in each garment.

Inexpensive, Serviceable and Attractive Dresses for Women

YOUR CHOICE AT $3.50 ON WEDNESDAY.

THE three words that describe these dresses better than all others are inexpensive, serviceable and attractive. What other feature can be embodied in an ideal summer wash dress?

We have a fine assortment to offer you and all sizes are represented. They are made of high-grade prints and ginghams in many different colors and the patterns include stripes, checks, rings and polka dot effects.

The colors are all fast and they are a quality that will stand endless trips to the wash tub and always look crisp and new when they return. Surely an offer like this should tempt you, especially if you are planning a picnic for the 24th.

Your choice at $3.50.

The New Pannier Waists

Here's something entirely new and full of interest to fashionable women. They come in various attractive designs, some in all-over embroidery and others handsomely embroidered and trimmed with clusters of tucks and insertions.

A very fine example, made of all-over embroidery is here. It has a V-shaped neck, edged with a wide band of insertion, three-quarter sleeves set in with insertion and finished with dainty cuffs of insertion and lace. The waist band is a wide lace and the apron effects are both new and attractive. Price, each... $2.75

Women's and Misses' Costumes in Tailored and Novelty Styles

Careful and expert tailoring has been put into these suits and we are confident that they will compare favorably with most costumes that are sold at even a much higher price.

The designs follow the season's approved tendencies, and many of the garments are reproductions of the most expensive styles that are to be seen in New York, London and Paris.

However, the prices are not what you would have to pay in these fashionable centres, and that fact makes the garments more inviting. They are to be had in repps, plain cloths, broad cloths, tweeds, English serges and silks. Many different colors to choose from and the prices are easy, ranging from $14.75 up to $65.00.

Light-Weight Overcoats

WORTH $20.00 TO $25.00 TO BE CLEARED AT $15.00 WEDNESDAY

You'll find the Spencer Clothing Department ready for every turn of the weather. Here's an example that demonstrates this fact.

There are 50 overcoats in the lot, all light weight and showerproof. They are smart new patterns, are to be had with one or two-way collars, and in all shades of fawns and greys, in stripes, and grey and brown mixtures. All sizes are included, and are made of English cravenettes of a reliable quality.

There will be many a rainy spell this summer—at least we must hope so—and you'll find these coats handy for such occasions.

They were purchased only a few weeks ago, and being late in the spring, we secured them at a big saving, that's why we offer you the coats at such an easy price.

SERVICE AND A SMART APPEARANCE ARE COMBINED IN

Our Showing of Boys' Suits

AN American author claims that it costs the parents of America twice as much to clothe the average boy than it does to educate him. This is an interesting fact, and if there is any truth in the statement, it should be interesting for parents to know that the toughest and smartest suits for boys are to be had at this store at a price that is easily paid.

No matter, how his clothing and educational expenses compare, one thing is certain, and that is the fact that most parents have, at some time or other, wished that they could dress their boys in leather, but really wanted them to look smart at the same time.

Here's the suits that meet this ideal as near as possible—they are tough, have a gentlemanly appearance and cost but little.

Let us show the garments to you, inspection will convince you of their value. Prices start at $3.50.
